Freeway Section Opening Today

Formal opening of the Junipero Serra Freeway extension from Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City to Westborough Avenue in South San Francisco will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony and the customary caravan of first vehicles over the new stretch of Interstate 280 will be followed by a noon luncheon at the Lake Merced Golf and Country Club in Daly City.

Both the on-site activities and the luncheon will be sponsored jointly by the South San Francisco and Daly City Chambers of Commerce.

Freeway ceremonies will feature five speakers, to be introduced by South San Francisco Mayor Pat Ahern. They will include F. D. Minucciani, a director on the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lyett, Jean Fassler, chairman of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors; Fred Bagshaw, deputy director of the California Department of Public Works; and S. E. Farin, regional engineer of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Mayor Lyett of Daly City will preside over the noon luncheon, where speakers will include South San Francisco Mayor Ahern, Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, Arthur Haylor, deputy director of District IV, of the State Division of Highways, and Farin.

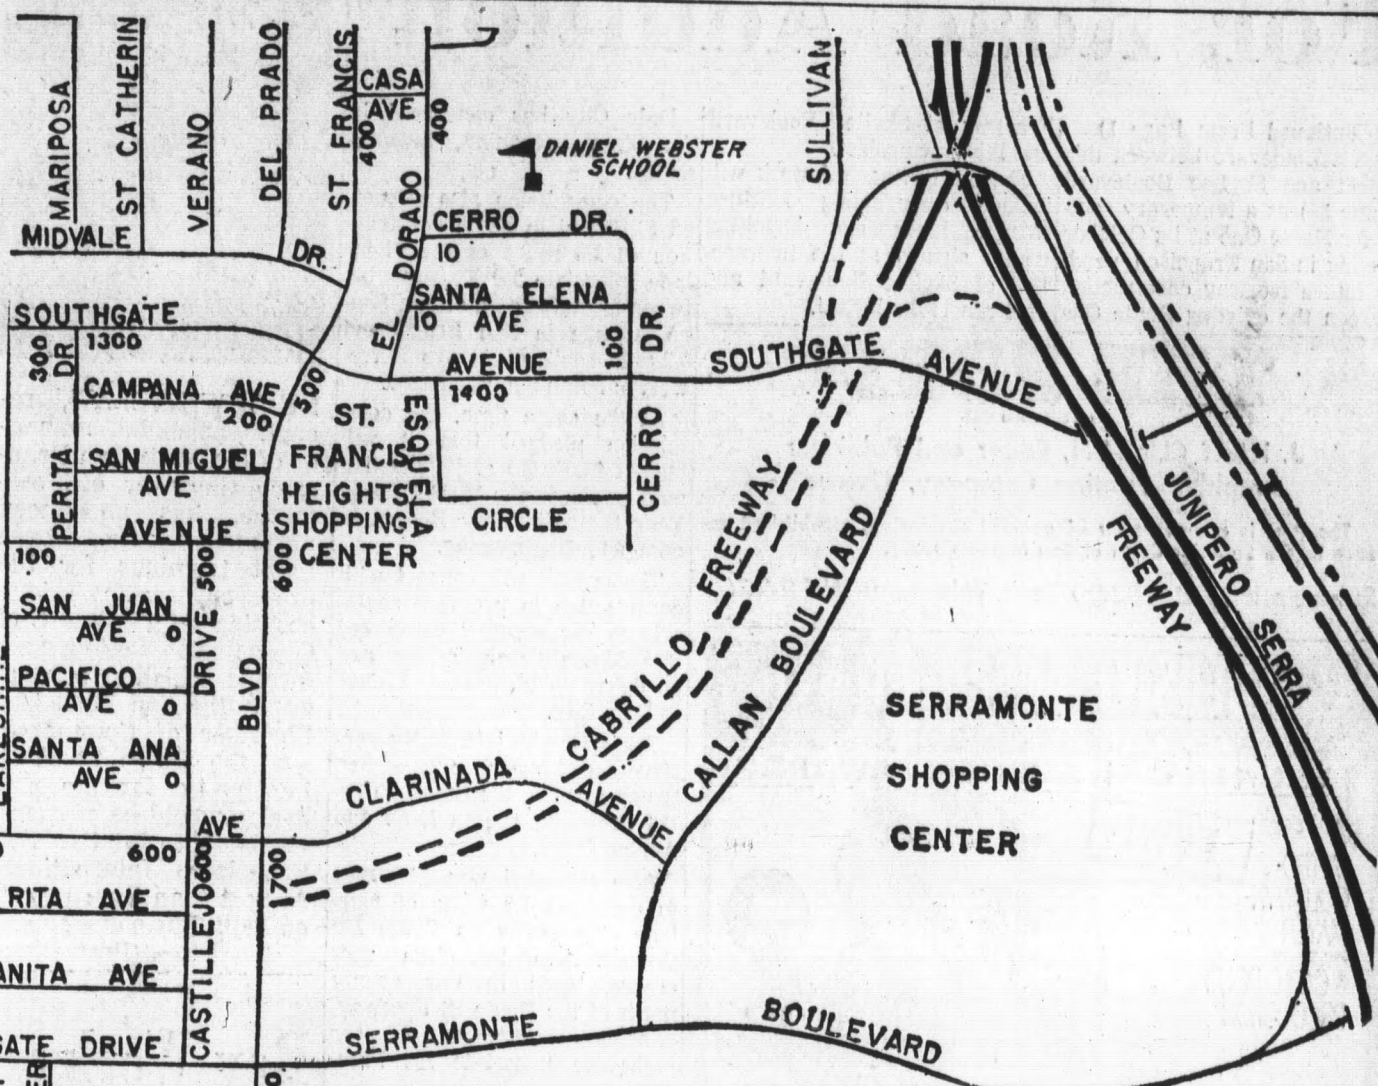

Junipero Funding Approved

The state has allocated $5,300,000 for 5.8 miles of freeway construction in San Mateo County, pushing Junipero Serra Freeway nearer completion.

The new allocations are for a connecting freeway near Colma City limits; for a section just west of South San Francisco, and for a section along the watershed lands. The latter will eventually carry only north-bound traffic, and will presently divide its four lanes north and south.

The Commission allocated $1,800,000 to construct 1.6 miles of eight-lane freeway for Route One between St. Francis Boulevard south of Clarinada Avenue in Daly City and Interstate 280 Freeway at the west city limit of Colma.

State Highway Engineer John A. Legarra said that he expects the commission to adopt St. (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

ANNIVERSARY

Pacifica Ball On Saturday

Hundreds of North County couples will don their finest attire Saturday night to attend Pacifica's semi-formal Anniversary Ball at the Fairmont Shopping Center's red-carpeted indoor mall, as the opening event of the coastal community's month-long Tenth Anniversary celebration.

Chairmaned by Stan Vander-Hule, the Tenth Anniversary also will feature a teen dance, rodeo and barbecue, in addition to other events being planned for area residents of all ages.

The Ball, during which free champagne will be served, will feature the music of pianist Jack Fisher and his 12-piece orchestra, according to Mort Levinson, chairman of the Ball.

Dancing will be from 9 a.m. until 1 a.m.

The affair will be open to the public, with a donation of $10 a couple being charged.

The ball is expected to attract Pacifica City Council and San Mateo County Congressional candidates, including Shirley Temple Black, as well as other civic and social leaders from throughout the North County, Levinson pointed out.

Levinson said the Ball is being planned as a "first-class" community attraction, the first big splash of numerous Anniversary activities to celebrate the City of Pacifica's incorporation.

With the Fisher orchestra playing on a two-tiered bandstand in the center of the main north-south Fairmont corridor, the wood dance floor will be constructed over the carpeting on the south mall wing, Levinson said.

Over 500 persons are expected to attend.

Council OKs Hike in D.C.

Daly City councilmen approved a 20-cent increase in garbage collection rates in the city Monday, but declined to include an additional five cent "surcharge" on the rates requested by City Manager Edward Frank.

The new increase will raise collection rates in the city from $1.50 per month to $1.70 per month.

DC Robbery Suspect Is Slain in S.F.

A man fitting the description of an armed robber who held up the Vin-Mar Motel on Geneva Avenue in Daly City, was shot to death on Monday by 18 policemen, after he held up another motel in San Francisco.

John Moore, 23, was killed in a raging gun battle with police at an apartment building at the corner of Bay Street and Columbus about 5:30 a.m.

Superior Court To S.S.F.

The County Board of Supervisors made it official Tuesday—a branch of the Municipal Court will operate full time in Daly City.

An ordinance was approved by the board making it mandatory that court will be held there starting in November. Until the action was taken, the matter was discretionary.

One of the three courts now operating in South San Francisco will be moved to Daly City, presumably into the old city hall. The move will make room for the assignment of a full-time branch of the Superior Court in South San Francisco. Two new Superior Court judgeships have been approved and will become effective in November. The county board has promised that one of the new judges will be assigned to South San Francisco.

By enacting the ordinance today, the supervisors followed through a pledge made to Daly City officials last May 24. The new ordinance continue to state that sessions of the court may also be held in San Bruno "as the business of the court requires."

County Mgr. E. R. Stallings said he will meet Friday with Judge Charles Becker, F. Jose (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

COUNCIL RACE

10 Pacifica Candidates

Ten candidates are making a contest for a single Pacifica City Council vacancy.

Voters in the coastal city will vote November 14 for a successor to James Fox, veteran councilman and hardware store proprietor who resigned last month and sold his hardware store and moved to Redding in Shasta County.

When the deadline for filing candidacy papers had been reached, these Pacificans were in the running:

Daniel Modena, Wally Sharp, Mrs. Margaret Moseley, Edward Libonati, Richard Passafiume, Ray Logan, George Edsell, Mrs. Ruth Horancy, W. R. Hartz and Lloyd Sitts.

Boy Works For 'Privacy' In Restroom

By WILL THOMAS

An elementary school student in Daly City might win some "privacy" in restrooms for boys in the Jefferson Elementary School District where adults have failed over the past four years.

The youngster, who was not identified, wrote not only District Supt. Frank Greenwood, but an area assemblyman as well in a one-boy campaign to have a door installed on at least one partitioned toilet in the boys' restroom at Westlake Elementary School.

Thomas Noonan, the chairman of the Jefferson Elementary District Board of Trustees, said he had received a phone call from the lad.

And, he—Noonan—was prepared to "champion" the youngster's cause for "equal rights for boys."

The "equal rights" reference was to the boy's statement in his letter that there are doors in both girls' and faculty lavatories.

"But I don't," the boy declared, "and I would like some privacy."

Noonan said he agreed there should be "at least one door" in each boys' restroom.

Teachers, Trustees Dine, Talk Salary

Officers of the Jefferson Elementary School District Classroom Teachers' Association hosted an informal dinner party for trustees Monday night, in an attempt to "approach some of the district's problems on an informal, personal basis."

Specifically, the JCTA members arranged the dinner meeting to lay groundwork for coming negotiations over teacher salaries for the current school year.

Teachers in the district schools have been working since classes began several weeks ago "without knowing what they are being paid," according to JCTA vice-president Denis O'Leary.

Both teachers and trustees are anxious to finalize the salary arrangements, which normally would have been set with adoption of the district budget. The teachers are vitally interested in distribution of approximately $821,000 in additional funds received by the district this year through the recently adopted Unruh Bill on School Finances and various federal grants.

A portion of the additional funds has been budgeted for such expenditures as materials and supplies, but approximately $460,000 remains to be divided between teacher salaries and the district's "undistributed reserves" fund.

District Superintendent Frank Greenwood has reportedly "made overtures" to the teachers' association with an across-the-board salary increase offer of about two- and a-half per cent.

The teachers feel an increase "in the neighborhood of five per cent" would be more realistic, and in keeping with average teacher salary increases in the county and in the Bay Area this year.

Greenwood and the teachers have also differed over the nature of the "across-the-board" salary increase proposal.

O'Leary said his organization favors a straight percentage salary increase, which would be of greater benefit to teachers with several years experience, over the "dollars across the board" type of increase.

"Certainly, we are in favor of fair salaries for the new teachers," he said, "but the superintendent's across-the-board raise would not give the experienced teachers a salary equitable to (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

New Policy On Placing Lids on Cans

Daly City Councilman Ed Dennis said yesterday that the Daly City Scavenger Company has agreed to revise its policy of placing garbage can lids upside down after they have been emptied.

Dennis brought the matter up following this week's discussion on increasing garbage rates in the community.

He had cited complaints received from customers of the garbage firm that in strong winds lids were blown down the streets.

It had been explained to councilmen that the scavengers used this upside-down lid method to "train" following collectors that the can already was empty. This practice will be discontinued, a spokesman for the scavenger firm told council.

Jeff Plans P.I.O. Post

In an attempt to close an apparent communications gap among trustees and the public, the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees last week authorized the creation of a Public Information Officer's position.

The decision, though a unanimous one of the board, was met by opposition by several members of the audience, which included a handful of teachers and PTA leaders.

Trustee Edward Tomasello proposed the additional district staff member as a means of getting to the residents in the district information on what the schools are doing, attempting to achieve and to give "recognition" to those who are contributing to the educational program.

His contentions were supported by his colleagues.

Board Chairman Thomas Noonan indicated he had received "favorable response" from persons to whom he had mentioned the proposal.

Tomasello said citizens of the district "have a right to know" what they are getting for Jefferson's six-million-plus dollar educational program.

What has been established and what must be done should be relayed to the public, he asserted.

"People in the district," he said, "must know what is going on." District Supt. Frank Greenwood, who said specifications for the post already are being drafted, said he could "think of (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

Daly City has concurred in the State's planning, Legarra added.

The commission also allocated $1,000,000 to begin construction of 2.3 miles of the eight-lane Interstate 280 Freeway between 0.4-mile south of San Bruno Avenue in San Bruno and 0.2-mile south of Arroyo Drive, west of South San Francisco.

At the same time, the commission pledged that it will budget $6,000,000 at its meeting next month in the 1968-69 Fiscal Year State Highway Budget to complete the financing.

The project will connect with construction in progress southerly to the recently completed San Mateo Creek Bridge and northerly to Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City.

The work will include the construction of interchanges at San Bruno Avenue, the future Route 186 Freeway, Sneath Lane and Avalon Drive.

Also allocated was $2,500,000 to construct 1.9 miles of four-lane expressway on Route 280 through San Francisco watershed lands in this county north of the Route 92 Freeway, pending construction of the eight-lane Interstate 280 Freeway.

The project connects on the north with construction in progress to San Bruno Avenue in San Bruno.

Although built to carry two directions of traffic, this new expressway section will carry the northbound traffic of the Interstate 280 Freeway when the four southbound lanes are constructed.

The work includes reconstructing about 0.5-mile of Ralston Avenue west of the expressway, construction of an interchange with Bunker Hill Drive, and providing a new connection with Skyline Boulevard (Route 35).

De Larios and Paul Hupf to discuss the move.

"Admittedly the old city hall is not the most desirable place for the court but it appears to be the only suitable location available at this time. The cost of renovating for the courtroom would not be excessive."

Long-range plans call for the courtroom to be housed in the new Jefferson High School administration building.

The State Judicial Council has been asked to study what types of court cases would be best to be heard in the Daly City court. The report is awaited.

ence recalled "two or three" doors for restrooms (boys) had been requested, or budgeted, since 1963 - but never made the final list of approved expenditures.

They, too, indicated they would like to see more "privacy" for the male school population, just as the girls and teachers have.

Superintendent Greenwood said the administration in the past has opposed doors on the basis of custodial time in opening locked doors; that they can be hazardous (the swinging type) and that "too much privacy" would be available.

He noted, however, that in the light of the boy's drive to obtain the doors by writing district leaders "and an assemblyman" he was "not going to object this time."

But Trustee Edward Tomasello learning doors would cost about $125 each to install, objected to immediate authorization to develop the "privacy."

He urged administrative study of the situation and obtain cost figures and to report back "next board meeting."

Tomasello, referring back to earlier discussion on implementing a hot-lunch program at Woodrow Wilson School, thought the cost could well approximate that for cafeteria facilities at Wilson.

The cost factor was the primary concern of Tomasello.

apartment after he held up the Travel Lodge Motel at Fisherman's Wharf, and he opened fire on the converging officers from the building.

Daly City police put out a radio bulletin for a man fitting Moore's description, after he held up the Vin-Mar Motel about 2:30 a.m.

Harris Rowland, night manager at the motel, said a man, whom he described as a young Negro, entered the office with a pistol drawn, and demanded cash from the register.

The suspect fled the scene on foot after taking about $40. Rowland said the robber wore a blue dress shirt with the tail out, and black trousers, clothing similar to that worn by Moore.

The pistol used in the Daly City robbery, a blue-steel automatic with a short barrel, was also identical to the weapon taken from Moore's body, 2 officers said.

Police said the suspect, fired at least 18 shots at a posse of a dozen policemen who had him cornered in a three-story apartment complex.

The shots bounced off concrete walls and awakened residents of the big project. Police warned occupants over bullhorns to "remain in your apartments and turn out your lights."

Moore was felled as he ran around a corner, fired at point-blank range at Officer William I nglois—and missed. Langlois shot Moore in the stomach and ordered him to surrender.

The suspect, raised his arm to fire again and Langlois shot him twice again.

The chase began when Officers George La Brash and Troy Dangerfield, responding to a robbery at the Travelodge Motel at Fisherman's Wharf, spotted the suspect driving slowly from the scene. When he saw the police cruiser following him, La Brash, said, Moore caromed around a corner and smashed into a parked car.

Moore, not injured by the crash, dropped to his knees and fired at the two policemen. The policemen radioed for help and chased Moore across the street and into the project. The wild pursuit led across a courtyard, around and around three floors and across a rooftop.

"He — Moore — apparently just wasn't going to be taken alive," La Brash said. "I'm just glad he didn't take any officers or innocent residents of that apartment with him."

He spoke primarily, in that regard of work a public information officer could do at Federal and State educational levels to the benefit of the local district.

The general board attitude was that "A lot of information has not reached the citizens,"

But Lois Parker, speaking as a taxpayer, didn't share the trustee attitude.

When the matter came up during a segment on the meeting termed "Miscellaneous Items Any Board Member May Wish to Introduce," Mrs. Parker's shaking anger was evidenced.

Making a reference to a board "rumor factory," and pointing out that no other district in the county has a public information officer, Mrs. Parker asked the board to "please think about the taxpayers."

Marilyn Harris of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association urged the board to allow faculty members a chance to "participate" in a community information program.

During his guerrilla training, he lived under simulated Vietnam conditions for five days, fighting off night attacks and conducting raids on "enemy" villages. He was taught methods of removing booby traps, setting ambushes, and avoiding enemy ambushes.

Other specialized training included small unit tactics, map reading, land mine warfare, communications, and firing the M-14 rifle, M-60 machine gun

The school is located at the Naval Training Center, and is designed to train both men and women of the Navy and Coast Guard. Taught by Navy nurses and senior hospital corpsmen, the curriculum covered instruction in patient care, the study of anatomy and physiology, minor surgery, the nature and prevention of communicable diseases, and the administering of medicines. In addition to attending classes, he worked with doctors and nurses at the San Diego Naval Hospital where he put to practical use the knowledge he gained in the classroom.

All seven Republican candidates who are running for the U.S. Congress in the 11th Congressional District of San Mateo County have been invited to speak.

They are: Lawrence Arky, Shirley Temple Black, Robert Barry, William H. Draper, Paul N. McCloskey, Rev. Gregory K. Sims and Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore.

There will be a short question and answer period immediately following the last speaker.

The meeting is open to all interested voters regardless of party affiliation.

Fire Damages S.S.F. Garage

A garage and some contents inside were damaged by fire at 500 Rocca Avenue, South San Francisco, Wednesday.

Firemen said the 8:18 p.m. blaze caused an estimated $1000 damage to the two-story wood frame and stucco home of the Andrew Colombos.

The fire, which nine firemen responded, was confined to the garage, a department spokesman said.

A fire department spokesman said investigation is continuing into the possibility that gas fumes from a water heater at the rear of the garage ignited.

There were two vehicles inside — a station wagon and a pickup.

The fire appeared to have started, the source said, at the rear of the 1965 model station wagon.

CALLING ALL

HOMEMAKERS

By DONALD C. WAITE

HERE ARE SOME TIPS ON HOW TO MAKE YOUR MATTRESS LAST LONGER

We've all seen examples of homes where furnishings look shabby after one year, while in other homes, furniture with the same use looks like new after ten years.

Some of the difference is in CARE.

This is particularly true in the case of mattresses.

Mattresses should be turned every week, not only from top to bottom, but front to back in order to equally distribute body weight to all parts of the mattress.

If possible, mattresses should be aired regularly by removing them from the bed and placing them on edge against a wall or dresser, leaving your windows wide open at such times.

There are several good mattress spray fresheners on the market but these are recommended to use only in addition to, and not in place of, the fresh air treatment.

A big mistake many people make is to sit on the edge of a bed when dressing or undressing. Remember that mattresses are for sleeping — and not sitting — and when they are used as a chair the edges are apt to break down.

And a good way to get the maximum value from your bedding is to purchase your mattresses and springs from our quality selection of nationally advertised brands.

New Jewish Year Starts Next Week

By RABBI SOLOMON SHORE

This year the new Jewish Year will be ushered in officially next Wednesday and a series of holidays and festivals will follow until October 27.

The Jewish New Year 5728 is based upon the traditional dictum that the world was created on Rosh Hashanah 5728 years ago.

All our laws and customs connected with the holidays are recorded in the Old Testament and though most of American Jews are modern in every respect and generally follow patterns of modern living. Nevertheless, the great majority of the six million Americans of the Jewish faith fill the Synagogues and Temples of the land.

The solemnity of the Holy Days, this year, will be officially ushered in with a mid-night service Saturday evening. This midnight service bears great religious significance because of the solemn mood which it portrays.

No man can change his ways in one or two days; man needs a much longer period of time for meditation and soul searching.

This month-long series of prayer meetings, of sermons on ethical values and moral principles of life are bound to elevate man's thoughts and man's aspirations and would give him great courage and impetus to face the many perplexing problems of today's social unrest.

The sound of the Shofar (ram's horn) every morning from then on is a call to man's better nature to mend his ways and to help build a better social order for all mankind.

Jewish history has spanned army centuries since its early beginnings and it is during the Holy Days that the great moments in our history are being reviewed.

The panorama of Biblical personalities and historical events are brought to the attention of those who come to hear the immortal message of our ancient prophets.

For a long, long time our people have been scattered in many lands and on many continents. We always had to adjust ourselves to new environments and to learn new languages; yet, one thing kept us together into one peoplehood and that one thing has always been the Jewish religion.

During the High Holy Days we become one people united and imbued with a noble spirit to follow in the footsteps of our prophets and our sages.

The largest Jewish community today lives in the American continent. Our predecessors came to our shores some three hundred years ago in search for a better life and for greater religious liberty. The early settlers of our country had left Spain and Portugal because of the harsh laws in those countries.

Today we constitute an important segment of American societies and our contribution to American civilization and progress is an open book to all. American Jewish life is vibrant with activities and social betterment.

Americans are dear to us and are our concern. We have a task to perform and we relentlessly follow it through. During this long period of spiritual resurgence we appeal to man's noble impulses to be kind, to be charitable to our fellowmen and the results usually bear fruit.

Today, the spiritual line between American Jewry and the people of Israel is stronger than ever before, in no other country in the world is Judaism practiced more traditionally and with greater devotion than in the Holy Land. The rejuvenation of the Hebrew language as the spoken language of the country. The great institutions of learning that land and the spirit of democracy among all the people is an inspiration to those who are privileged to witness it.

After 2,000 years of wandering and suffering the people of Israel are building a new society based on those foundations of justice and brotherhood which were preached from the mountain tops of the Holy Land.

Jewish immigrants from every part of the world speaking different tongues are blended together into our solid society.

This year, the people of Israel will gather in hundreds of synagogues all over the land to pray to God in Heaven for the victory which was theirs.

5 Seek Bench

At least four San Mateo County lawyers and a Municipal Court judge are among the early entrants for appointment to the two new Superior Court judgeships authorized by the state legislature this year.

The number is certain to swell considerably before the legislation creating the new positions becomes effective in November.

Governor Reagan's office has confirmed that the names of Municipal Judge Charles Becker of South San Francisco, Deputy Dist. Atty. Allison M. Rouse of Redwood City, and former State Assemblyman Louis M. Francis of San Mateo have been proposed for appointment.

Others known to be interested in the appointment are Deputy Dist. Atty. Howard E. Gawthrop of Menlo Park and Conrad B. Reich of San Mateo, city attorney of Brisbane and Pacifica.

Supporters of Judge Becker point out that his elevation to the Superior Court bench would be especially logical inasmuch as one of the new judges is to be assigned to full-time duty in the South San Francisco courts-house. Superior Court sessions are held there only once a week at present — a half-day on Friday.

Youth Shot On Beach

James T. Papadakis, 19, of 209 Lincoln Avenue, San Francisco, suffered a gunshot wound in the palm of his left hand Saturday while target shooting with friends on a beach off Old Coast Highway near Pacifica.

The gun they were using discharged as Papadakis picked it up, police said they were told.

Gawthrop and Reich confirmed today that they have submitted their qualifications to Governor Reagan for consideration. Gawthrop has been a civil deputy on the staff of Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson for 14 years, during which time he has lost only three court cases. He was in private practice for eight years before joining the public service. He has been active in Republican affairs and worked on the Spencer Williams campaign for state attorney general last year.

Reich has been a lawyer since 1950 and has been practicing in San Mateo County since 1953. He was on Governor Reagan's campaign committee last year.

Rouse, a deputy district attorney for 15 years, is Sorenson's senior trial deputy. He has been a dutiful part worker and has served on the Republican Central Committee.

Francis, one of the county's most noted Republicans for many years, has been somewhat controversial because of his espousal of conservative causes. He served in the State Assembly until the county's assembly districts were realigned in such a way that his residence was excluded from the District he represented. Francis is known to have given serious consideration to running for the congressional seat vacated by the death of J. Arthur Younger.

Old-Time Fighter Is Killed

Tommy Taylor, a colorful old-timer from Pacifica who once fought Jack Dempsey, died Saturday in Mary's Help Hospital from injuries received Friday night, when he stepped into the path of an automobile on San Pedro road.

A hospital spokesman said the 87-year-old Taylor died about 7 p.m. Saturday after emergency surgery for multiple fractures and internal bleeding.

A familiar figure around Pacifica for decades, Taylor lived in the Edgemont area in a house he had built himself "back in the thirties."

Friends said he lived alone, apparently on a social security pension.

Taylor was a bare-knuckle boxer in his youth and once fought for the West Coast championship "sometime around 1912."

He also fought Dempsey and worked as a sparring partner for the great heavyweight at various times.

In later years, Taylor was fond of hitch-hiking around Pacifica, acquaintances said, and would often shake a heavy cane he carried for protection, at passing motorists.

He was hitch-hiking Friday night when he apparently stumbled into the road and into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Sheila Gamble at about 8 p.m., police said.

Taylor is survived by a daughter, Margaret Miriam Morgan Hill. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

N. County Cities Plan Joint Meet

San Bruno councilmen will hold a joint meeting with the Millbrae council to discuss annexation of a portion of the Capuchino High School parking lot to the City of San Bruno.

Mayor Maurice Hamilton instructed the city manager to arrange the meeting Monday, after the council received a letter from the San Mateo Unified School District expressing approval of the annex proposal.

All the Capuchino campus except a small portion of the parking lot is within the San Bruno city limits, Hamilton said, and the city is seeking the annexation "in the interest of simplification."

The council will also discuss a joint storm drain project with Millbrae officials at the meeting.

Millbrae has asked that San Bruno contribute to needed improvements of a drainage system which serves both the cities.

AFT Push: Teacher-Run SSF School

American Federation of Teachers representatives in South San Francisco have been "meeting quietly" with members of the California Teachers' Association on the district's negotiating council in an attempt to enlist support for an AFT-proposed "teacher-administered school" in the district.

CTA President Ron Nicolli has invited the AFT representatives to speak before a meeting of CTA members and "present the proposal in more detail," according to James Lynch, a spokesman for the AFT group.

Members of the AFT, an A.F. of L.C.I.O. affiliate, have proposed that one school in the district be run entirely by classroom teachers "on a pilot study basis."

Robert Gehl, president of the organization, has stated that administrators in the district form "an unnecessary bureaucracy which intimidates and throttles teachers, rather than helping them."

"Some administration is needed," Gehl said this week, "but teachers are now willing to build a profession which administers itself, like doctors and lawyers."

The AFT president said a teacher-administered school would reduce taxpayer costs "and provide an extra classroom teacher."

Under the proposal, teachers at the designated pilot school would elect a classroom teacher to handle administrative duties on a part-time basis.

AFT spokesman also said the teacher-administered school would prevent district administrators from "tampering with the legal rights of teachers in grading and disciplining students."

Dr. Paul Nielsen, superintendent of the South San Francisco Unified School District, declined to comment on the proposal when it was first presented to the administration and board of trustees several months ago.

The AFT, which represents approximately 20 per cent of the district's classroom teachers, does not have a representative on the negotiating council.

The larger CTA represents classroom teachers in negotiations.

Friend Is Burned As Gas Explodes

Tony Sanz, 35, of 76 Lousanne Avenue, Daly City suffered second-degree burns of his right hand Saturday when gas fumes were ignited by a water heater pilot light at the 462 Northaven Drive home, of a Daly City friend.

Sanz, according to Daly City firemen, was cleaning a motorcycle at about 11:45 a.m. when fumes from a can of gasoline apparently ignited in the garage of Richard R. Garcia.

In addition to causing Sanz burns, the resulting fire also caused an estimated $300 damage to the motorcycle, another $400 to a 1956 Thunderbird car parked in the garage, and $750 smoke damage to the garage itself.

Sanz was taken by Garcia to Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, where he was treated and released.

Burglaries: First Car, Then Firm

Burglars ransacked a San Bruno machine shop Saturday and took nearly $2,000 after taking the owner's keys to the shop earlier from his locked car.

San Bruno police said the machine shop of Mario M. A. Aiello at 1073 San Mateo Ave. was entered between 8 and 10:30 p.m.

Entering the shop with the victim's own key obtained from Aiello's auto as he slept inside the car, the burglars ransacked the office, pried open file cabinets and scattered papers and supplies.

The rummaging gained for the burglars 13 $20 gold pieces, three $10 gold pieces, two $5 gold pieces, three silver dollars, numerous rolls of quarters and dimes estimated to be worth around $1,000 and two metal cash boxes — one containing $100, the other $800.

The caper began as Aiello slept in his car, which was parked in a San Bruno tavern's parking lot. A car window was pried open and the victim's keys taken from the ignition.

Aiello, upon awakening went to his shop to obtain a duplicate key, and discovered the second burglary.

THE PACIFICA Family Service Agency had a luncheon last Tuesday at Nick's Rockaway restaurant to introduce new Auxiliary members to the new family service director who will assist Pacificans from his Eureka Square Offices. Here, Michael Miller introduces New Auxiliary member Mrs. Dale Shelly of Pacifica to new director Ray Saari. The luncheon was attended by about 40 Auxiliary members who heard the plans outlined for the coming year in Pacificas FSA activities.

S.S.F.'s Buri Buri School Playground Is Finished

On Thursday, the South San Francisco Unified School District and City of South San Francisco marked the completion of the development of the Buri Buri School playground facing Del Monte Avenue in the Buri Buri Section of South San Francisco. Development includes turf, automatic sprinklers, baseball areas, asphalt areas, basketball standards and court games, perimeter landscaping and parking area.

The area has been developed under terms of the 1963 School-City agreement which sets forth grounds rules for joint uses of school and city facilities and for joint development of additional properties. Previously completed are El Camino High School swimming pool, Serra Vista School upper playground, Avalon School upper playground, and now Buri Buri School playground. Areas still to be completed are El Rancho school, Ponderosa school, Spruce school, Hillside school, and Parkway school.

Under terms of the agreement planning of the site is jointly handled through the City and School district with construction contracts administered by the School District. Except for the El Camino High School swimming pool construction of all sites is being financed by the Civic Center Tax levied by the School District.

The philosophy of development has been based upon educational use as primary with recreational use after school, holidays, weekends, and vacations. Two additional benefits are the esthetic beauty added to the immediate neighborhood and the availability for drop in use by local residents. Under the terms of this agreement the tax dollar gets stretched to a maximum.

'Shabby Cuff' Notes

NOTES ON A SHABBY CUFF — That fellow from "the City That Forgot How" who also seems to raise Cane about Things San Mateo (keeps calling it Orange County North) should confine his limited knowledge of politics to his own local scene.

If recent polls of what's happening — congressional election-wise — here in the North County is any indication of the trend, voters are leaning TOWARD Shirley Temple Black and few have even heard of Pete McCloskey. Earl Whitmore and Roy Archibald are still leading their respective parties, but it's too early to tell what's going to happen.

And in another effort to end a little confusion started by that Big City columnist: Anyone can vote for anybody (Republican or Democrat for instance) in a primary. Heck, anybody should know that.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK — How can all those "Whitemore for Congress" signs on "Greyhound" school buses around the area? Yes we know: Greyhound's a commercial firm and can advertise what they want on their buses. But there's an increasing number of moms that aren't too happy with this attitude and are starting to say something about it. They don't want their children riding on buses with political ads adorning the sides.

OH THE PAIN — Frank Monte (Grand Jury, School Trustee) sent over a Shirley Temple (Grenadine, soda and a cherry) to Jim Grealish at a recent party. Grealish is campaigning for Mrs. Black in the North County.

By the way: you NEVER ask for a Shirley Temple nowadays, people in the KNOW ask for "a Congresswoman."

AND THEN THERE'S the one about the nice Italian lady who purchased some choice veal at a Daly City market for scallopini. Simmered it just right. Sat down to enjoy her efforts — and broke her front teeth when she bit into a bullet lodged in the meat. Results: A lawsuit filed against the meat market in the Northern Judicial district Court.

STEADY RAY BABY — One of our favorite people — Ray Letsinger — writes to thank us for something or other and confides he is now frantically planning for his forthcoming marriage to a lovely North County lass. "The real fun begins now — planning for the wedding! Maybe we should run away and simplify matters," Ray says. Sorry

Our Opinion

Student Voice

The trend in recent years to a stronger student voice in the conduct of the nation's colleges and universities could develop into too much of a good thing.

The congress of the controversial National Student Association has passed a resolution calling for a sweeping increase in "student power."

The resolution demands that students be given complete control over such areas as chartering student organizations, the financing of student activities, dormitory hours, social and housing rules, and all disciplinary actions concerning the violation of student regulations.

And this outfit wants joint control, along with the administration and the faculty, over such issues as course requirements, admissions policies, the hiring and dismissal of faculty members, college services, such as cafeterias, and grading systems.

It is frightening to contemplate the effect such an arrangement would have on the morale of faculty members. Joint control on the campus would be comparable to management's submitting all its proposals to a labor committee.

It is as true in business as it is on the campus that the rank and file should have a voice. But management still has the job of running the business.

Until recently, much could be said for youthful enthusiasm, but age and experience cannot be discounted altogether.

Visual Sanitation

New York City's Department of Sanitation has declared war on "visual noise." The confused colors, shapes and unclear messages that confront New Yorkers will be replaced with easier-to-read signs.

On the theory that visual sanitation begins at home, it is repainting its old yellow trucks white and is going over the inscription on each truck with an editorial blue pencil.

The old truck design carried a departmental seal and a 23-word inscription: "City of New York Department of Sanitation, John V. Lindsay, Mayor, Joseph F. Periconi Commissioner, A Cleaner New York Is Up to You." The new design says simply "Sanitation."

Visual noise is everywhere. Three cheers for visual sanitation!

She Loves The Film Business

There are 58 women producer-directresses working in Hollywood today and actress Elizabeth James may soon increase that number.

Here's a pretty, young woman who has no burning desire to be a "star" but loves the film business and intends to learn every facet of its operation. She never asked to be in movies, it was the last thing on her mind when she received her degree in mathematics from Colorado College with an I.Q. rating of 160, but fate led her before the cameras and she found herself beginning at the top of a highly competitive profession without experiencing any of the traditional struggle.

As the lead role in "Born Losers" currently playing on the Peninsula, with three other studios now bidding for her services, Miss James has set her sights on what goes on behind the camera and inside the camera.

"When I graduated from college I had to make a decision to accept a job in a scientific area that would mean a long commitment. Companies talk in ten year terms. Since I didn't know where my strongest interests would lead me, I didn't morally feel I could enter any extensive program and accept their training. But the film industry encompasses many interests and I'm willing to learn," the trim burnette explained.

HER CONVERSATION runs to mention of box office grosses, distribution and camera lenses. She's the niece of Mrs. Ray McCann of Palo Alto and at one time considered attending Stanford University.

Miss James received her big movie break while flying thousands of feet above the clouds, as a passenger on an airliner jetting from Denver to Los Angeles. Not a word was spoken. She was simply handed a personal card by handsome actor Tom Laughlin. Her first assignment was co-starring with Jane Russell and Jeremy Slate, both established stars. She portrays, naturally, a college girl who evolves from an unmotivated, immature youngster to a thinking person.

And her short hairdo isn't a copy of Mia Farrow's. "I never could get it to curl, like other girls and one drizzly day when it was hanging limp down my neck, I went into a men's barber shop and asked to have it cut off. My parents were shocked but I love it," she stated.

"I DIDN'T come to Stanford because I needed a job. I can make up to $1,000 a day in television in Hollywood. We're success oriented but I'm happier at $10,000 a year here than I was making $25,000 a year in New York."

This attitude by Gerald Hiken, newly appointed acting artistic director of the Stanford Repertory Theater season, reflects that of his colleagues who have found artistic and emotional rewards in performing away from the competitive and commercial Broadway scene.

In streamlining the company down from last year, establishing a more compact organization that will continue its dual goals of professional theater and professional training, SRT has named professor Wendell Cole as acting head of Department of Speech and Drama to replace Professor Robert Loper, executive head of the department who is teaching at the University of Washington on sabbatical this year. Judith Burgess, business manager, has replaced Peter Troxell.

"Our problems in the first two years of operation was that the large 1700 seat Memorial Auditorium was a handicap. Its size demands large production and crews and we found that our most successful shows were in the Little Theater with 200 seats," Paul Richards, artist-in-residence commented.

SRT representatives squelched persistent rumors that SRT was folding and that the university was discontinuing the professional company. Their season this year will include more performances than last, with major producing efforts decreased from six to four. This will give them time to prepare fully with enough extra time to revive some past productions and keep them in the repertory to perform outside the university.

Only one show will be produced in Memorial Auditorium (Jean O'Casey's "Cock-a-Doodle Dandy" on March 6); the others in the renovated 120 seat Nitery and Little Theater.

"Plays for Today" will be the theme with West Coast premier of "The Cavern," by Jean Anouilh opening the season November 29. "Candaules, Commissioner" by Daniel C. Gerould, a S.F. State College professor; and "The Inspector General" by Nikolai Gogol on April 24.

Meeting Place" will be performed at the Little Theater on October 19 through 28. It will be on a double bill with "Out at Sea."

"There was a resistance by the undergraduates who felt SRT would crowd them out of the scene. Now they've stopped their slanderous attacks and welcomed us," Hiken related.

University trustees have voted $150,000 support and the Rockefeller's $100,000 will be renewed for the third year. There is positive talk of building a new campus theatre just for the SRT. If the Rockefeller money is not renewed next year, the University will pick up the full financial support of the acting company.

There are five Equity actors on salary, 15 Master of Fine Arts candidates and three acting fellows, also on salary. They've reduced the Equity number from nine but plan to "job in" actors as they need them.

In choosing their season's theme, Hiken explained that they said, "let's look at the modern masters and strike a happy medium between the classics and the shocking avant-garde. We went through lists of neglected plays that deserved giving voice and tried to pick plays with an eye on the people we had available. We would have liked to do O'Casey's "Red Roses for Me" but it needed three sets so we chose his other work."

Stanford is the first professional repertory to incorporate into a drama department. There is nothing new in bringing professionals to a campus, but they've never before been so integrated. Yale University students must watch the professionals for the first year. At the University of Minneapolis only a graduate student can join the professional company.

"If we had any rough sledding in the first two years," Hiken announced, "it was in being over ambitious."

Letters to the Editor

'Juvenile Problems'

EDITOR:

What action is needed to resolve the juvenile problems? (re: "Juvenile Problems: What (If Any) Action Needed," September 13).

More than one to be sure! We definitely need curfew laws for unchaperoned children and teen-agers.

Local authorities and politicians have been promising us a new swimming pool at Westmoor High School for how many years now? A reasonable fee for use of the pool could help finance it; also a nominal fee for swimming lessons during school vacations.

We also need more recreational leaders, and less lethargic parents and police officers.

The standard comment of the police officers these days is, "We can't do anything about it."

The law now protects the offenders far more than their victims. This encourages the ever-growing rate of crime and delinquency. Until these laws are altered to protect the offended, and restrain the lawbreaker, we who live by the laws that we make may as well be living in a dark and dangerous jungle.

Could it be that we would even be safer there?

Yes, we need action to curb and discipline our youth, but let's put our heads and hearts together and give them some alternative outlets. These outlets are needed here, in the core of our communities, and not on some remote mountain.

And, they are needed now!

MARGARET O. RICHARDSON,
Daly City.

The Tomorrow Country

John Steinbeck called California the Tomorrow Country.

Year-after-year for the last decade 400,000 people have been moving into California.

This unprecedented migration is giving California the most rapid rate of urban growth in the history of western civilization. Every year 200 square miles of once rural land — 140,000 acres — are bulldozed into streets, houses, factories, and shopping centers.

Why do people come to California? Why is it the "tomorrow country"? What does its growth portend for the future?

To find the answer; to give Californians an understanding of their state, McNally and Loftin, Publishers ask eleven outstanding authorities to explore the main aspects of life in the state today. What they have to say has been published in a book entitled "California, the Dynamic State."

AMONG THE CONTRIBUTORS is Professor William L. C. Wheaton, Director of the Institute of Urban and Regional Development of the University of California.

Dr. Wheaton lists the reasons people come to California: "First, it is clear that California's glamorous image has been firmly impressed in the national mind... This is the state of excitement, drama, and romance. It is also the state which is headquarters of the space, aeronautics and electronic industries, a technologic center for the future... In the American people's restless search for a better life, California continues to be a magnet."

Then Dr. Wheaton warns, "California must devise means for preventing the smog, purifying the streams, planning the communities, providing hundreds of thousands of jobs and above all creating cities of splendor and joy, cities which will evoke pride of citizenship in mankind's most interesting experiment — the development of the affluent society."

To achieve these ends Dr. Wheaton believes that "... the mistrust, the little faith, the fear and the penury with which Californians have viewed their governments must give way to confidence in the democratic process and the government institutions which have made the state grow. That in turn must be followed by boldness of invention and willingness to invest money, effort and faith which characterized those who built the state and its institutions."

EACH OF THE 11 authors in the McNally and Loftin book recognize the problems facing California. Each believes they can be conquered.

Ex-Governor Brown wrote, "We have work to do — work to keep the state the nation's leader." Then he outlines five things that must be done: meaningful tax reform, particularly reduction of the property tax. Strengthen the alliance of law enforcement and science to fight crime and violence. Form programs to boost the net income of our farmers. Abolish welfare for all employable workers, take steps to keep our educational system abreast of the growth in population and the revolution in technology." Then writes the Ex-Governor, "And much more."

Other writers list different challenges. Erle Stanley Gardner, the creator of Perry Mason, writes about the needs in the administration of justice.

Wallace Stegner writes of the problems of growth, of the smog, the preservation of parks, the creation of scenic highways, the bigots and the rebellious, the human rights conflict — But he says, "If a great society is being created anywhere it is probably being created today in California."

unique in "The Dynamic State" is an essay in picture by Ansel Adams. It proves once again the old proverb — one picture is worth a thousand words.

"California, the Dynamic State" is a must on everyone's list of books to read.

Answering Questions

The retailer or businessman is often unable to answer a question to the customer's satisfaction. This is when the Better Business Bureau's trade consultant, a third impartial party, becomes an invaluable aid in preserving one of the most priceless assets of business: "Goodwill."

Justified complaints are sometimes caused by mistakes or misunderstandings that a firm is glad to know about and correct. Where the complaints are not justified, the Bureau can often explain the circumstances so that the complainant will see the unfairness of his demands.

Some typical Better Business Bureau inquiries and answers are:

Q. My 14-year-old son recently signed a contract for a magazine subscription. Can he be held to this contract?

A. Generally minors are not held responsible for contracts they sign. Married persons under 21 years old cease to be minors insofar as contracts are concerned. The Better Business Bureau has intervened in disputes involving contracts signed by minors and, when such disputes do not involve legal action, most firms were willing to cancel contracts and accept the return of the merchandise, provided it had not been used.

Q. What can I do if a merchant does not have an item available for sale he has displayed in his window?

A. A merchant should always have any merchandise displayed for sale or the item should be removed. Call the Better Business Bureau. Most merchants will comply with any reasonable request.

Q. When I wanted to purchase an item advertised at a special low price, the merchant said there had been a mistake in the ad and would not sell me the merchandise at that price. Can he be made to sell at the advertised price?

A. The law does not require a merchant to sell at an advertised price if there was an honest error. It is up to the seller and his policy as to what lengths he will go to satisfy customers. However, it is against the law for a merchant to purposely advertise an item at a lower price than he intends to sell it for in order to attract customers.

Q. A dress of bonded fabric shrank so much when dry-cleaned I cannot wear it. Aren't such materials guaranteed against shrinkage?

A. Both the Better Business Bureau and the National Institute of Dry Cleaners have had a growing number of consumer complaints involving fabrics bonded to fabric. The complaints fall into four categories: Partial or complete separation of the face fabric from the lining fabric; Shrinkage in dry cleaning or in finishing with steam; Stiffening or change of bond after dry cleaning and finishing; Adhesive staining. This can be prevented only by care in manufacture. Be sure to read instructions on garments purchased and notify your cleaner accordingly before you have garments cleaned. Do not remove tags which contain cleaning instructions.

Q. A neighbor of mine says I received a "high-ball" when I traded my car in on a new one. Would you please explain what he meant?

A. A "high-ball" is the practice of offering a customer a high and unrealistic price on a trade-in with no intention of giving that amount at the time of the new car delivery.

At the time of the new car delivery, the customer's car is subject to reappraisal according to the terms of the contract.

Hawaiian Honeymoon For Couple

Honeymooning in Hawaii are Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Peter (Lorraine Giesinger) after their recent wedding at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints in Millbrae. Bishop James R. Wright officiated at the 3 p.m. ceremony.

Lorraine, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Giesinger of Millbrae, wore a traditional gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta with long sleeves, bouffant skirt and fitted bodice detailed with sequins. A crown of seed pearls caught her veil, and she carried butterfly orchids and stephanotis.

Elenore D. Kinsman of Sunnyvale served as matron of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids included Lenore D. Kinsman, the bride's niece; Ursula Struck of Belmont, and Toni Goebel of Menlo Park.

Gunter A. Struck of Belmont served as best man for Helmut, the son of Mrs. Rudolf Hartman of Gelsenkirchen, Germany, who attended the wedding, and the late Hellmuth Peter. Seating the guests were Robert E. Kinsman of Sunnyvale; Mark H. Kinsman, the bride's nephew, and Dieter Goebel of Menlo Park.

The couple received felicitations at the Burlingame Woman's Club. They will be at home in San Mateo in October.

THE STANTON C. CAREYS (Joyce Thomas)

Joyce Thomas Is Now Mrs. Carey

Eight attendants preceded Joyce Teresa Thomas down the aisle of St. Robert's Catholic Church for her marriage to Stanton Charles Carey. The Rev. Richard C. Fry officiated. Jeanne Roberta Thomas and Mrs. Garland Vernon Smith were the honor attendants for their sister in raspberry chiffon over taffeta. Similarly gowned bridesmaids were Dorlane Ann Neary, San Bruno; Jean Campbell, Ventura; Erika M. Schreiner, San Bruno, and Ann Whitney, Santa Barbara. The flower girls, Alison Elizabeth and Aileen Erin Smith, are nieces of the bride.

Joyce, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Marvin Thomas of San Bruno, wore a white floor-length gown of organza over taffeta detailed with re-embroidered Alencon lace. She added lace-edged mantilla and carried white roses.

Steven Kimball Carey was the best man for his twin brother. Both are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Adrian Carey of Long Beach. Seating the guests were Joseph J. Balke, Long Beach; Philip Rodney Kimball, cousin of the bride; David Jay Ritchie, Long Beach; John Melvin Thomas, brother of the bride, and Jeffrey Lee White, Long Beach.

The couple received felicitations at a champagne buffet at the Lazy V. Restaurant and later left for a wedding trip through the western states.

They will live in Goleta, and both will study music at the University of California at Santa Barbara. Joyce will finish her graduate study and Stanton will receive his bachelor's degree.

Newly engaged are Bonnie Cariglio of San Bruno and Layne Amiot. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Cariglio of San Bruno and Paul Cariglio of Imperial Beach. She attended Capuchino High School and the College of San Mateo and is a member of the Peninsula Hospital Auxiliary. Layne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Amiot of San Francisco. He attended Polytechnic High School and San Francisco State College and is serving in Vietnam with the Army military police. A wedding date has not been set.

Elaine Parker To Marry in Spring

Elaine Parker and James E. Poshusta are planning a spring wedding at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in San Bruno.

The couple's engagement was announced at a party at the San Bruno home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Del S. Parker. The bride-elect attended Capuchino High School and the College of San Mateo.

She is the sister of Mrs. Ronald May and Mrs. Ezra Eisenberg and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Parker of Alberta, Canada.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Poshusta of Howard, S. D., attended high school in Howard, Augustana College, Sioux Falls, S. D., and the College of San Mateo.

He is the brother of Allyn D. Poshusta, Mary Walton, Jean Stenslokken and Rebecca Poshusta.

ELAINE PARKER ENGAGED

'Santiago's Mass' Film to be Shown

A film entitled "Santiago's Mass" will be presented by the Latin American mission program at the St. Veronica's Women's Club meeting on October 5 at 8 p.m. in the South San Francisco school's cafeteria.

The movie depicts the spiritual and economic poverty in the Mexican area of Baja.

Y-Indian Guides Start Recruiting

The Fox Nation has planned two more "get acquainted" council sessions in the Pacifica Area to recruit new members into the Y-Indian Guides.

Two other meetings — conducted in the San Andreas School — were held Monday and yesterday.

The second meetings will be held at the Sanchez School auditorium, from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. October 2 and 9.

The Y-Indian Guides is a national father and son home-centered program. Fathers and sons participate together as

Purpose of the program is to foster the companionship of father and son.

The Y-Indian Guide Council provides opportunities for big and little braves to meet together so they may better know each other and their friends.

All fathers and sons in Pacifica who are interested in Y-Indian Guides should plan to attend one of these meetings.

NELL NORTON

(Sugar 'n Spice)

Mrs. Ghio's Baking Recipes

Good morning good cooks.

Are you girls in a baking mood? I have some gems to share with you today. Also a delicious entree that should brighten your day. And how did I come across these goodies? Recently I was shopping for a cookie press and when I finally found the one I wanted, I also found a generous lady who was willing to share her recipes with us. We were discussing pressed cookies and from that we went into other types of cookies and she told me about these Marguerites and said she would mail me the recipe. She did just that, and included two ore recipes that I tried and found delicious.

This generous cook is Mrs. E. Gene Ghio who lives at 62 West Market St. in Daly City.

MARGUERITES

White of one egg
4-Tbsp. granulated sugar
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/4 teas. vanilla
24 round crackers

Beat the egg white until stiff, gradually add the four tablespoons sugar, beating well. Lastly fold in the one-fourth cup chopped nuts and the one-fourth teaspoon vanilla.

Spread on salted crackers, place on cookie sheet and bake in moderate oven (350-degrees) about 15 minutes or until lightly browned.

Check at 10 minutes as these cookies brown very quickly.

These cookies are delicious just as they are but I think the next time I make them I'll add one-fourth cup of the small chocolate bits to the egg white just to give it a change. Or even add some coconut.

Our next cookies are different in that they use bread crumbs as their main ingredient. By combining these cookie crumbs with the other ingredients you create some delicious crisp cookies.

CRUMB MACAROONS

1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 well beaten eggs

Combine the one cup each, bread crumbs, nuts and sugar. Stir in the one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla and two well beaten eggs.

Drop by teaspoonful on a very well greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350-degrees) about 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from sheet at once.

Yield about 2 1/2 dozen.

Last but not least, we come to the entree recipe that Mrs. Ghio sent me. When I went down to buy my veal shanks the butcher said I was lucky to get them for they usually cut the meat off for veal stew. So shop early. Be sure to have him cut them into the 2 1/2-inch pieces.

OSSOBUOCO (VEAL SHANKS)

6 2 1/2-inch pieces veal shank
salt and pepper
1/4 cup margarine
2 tsp. flour
1 peeled tomato, quartered
2 bouillon cubes, either chicken or beef
2 cups water
1/4 cup white wine
1 teas. dried rosemary
1/2 teas. salt
1/2 teas. pepper
1 tsp. minced parsley

Sprinkle the six pieces of veal with salt and pepper. Brown in the one-fourth cup hot butter, removing pieces as they brown. Add the diced medium onion, the diced carrot and the one stalk of celery, to the pan and saute until tender, about five minutes. Return meat to pan.

Combine the one-fourth cup margarine and the two tablespoons of flour. Work together and gradually stir in the two cups of water in which you have dissolved the two bouillon cubes. Add this mixture to the meat along with the one-fourth cup white wine, peeled quartered tomato, one teas. dried rosemary and salt and pepper. Stir well.

Cover and simmer until meat is tender. This took about 1 1/2 hours. Remember simmer veal, don't boil it.

When veal is tender stir in the one tablespoon parsley and serve with rice.

The day I was testing Mrs. Ghio's cookie recipes I also tested some other goodies I'd like to share with you.

GINGER CREAM BARS

1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup sour milk
1/4 teas. soda
1/2 teas. ginger
1/2 teas. cinnamon
1/2 teas. baking powder
1/2 teas. salt
2 cups flour

Cream the one-half cup shortening with the one-half cup sugar, add the one-half cup molasses. Sift together the two cups flour, and one-half teaspoon each of ginger, cinnamon, baking powder and salt. Add the one-fourth teaspoon of soda to the one-half cup sour milk.

Add the sifted dry ingredients and sour milk to the creamed mixture. Blend well and pour into greased 9x13-inch baking pan. Bake in 350-degree oven about 25 minutes. Cool and frost with a butter icing.

BUTTER ICING

1 1/2 cups confectioners sugar
1/2 CUP BUTTER
1 teas. vanilla

Combine the one and one-half cups confectioners sugar with the butter and beat well. Add the teaspoon vanilla and enough milk to make a nice spreading consistency.

Film Festival Due

By MARIA MONTENEGRO

Campus sights and sounds... Whatever happened to that blonde Playboy pin-up that appeared on the skylight in front of the big gym the first Tuesday of school? Stiff necks were prevalent that morning

And who were the five JV football team members who were observed packing themselves into the campus phone booth at 10:30 p.m. Friday before last? Say, fellas, was it that 28-0 victory over Livermore or the root beer drinking contest which followed?

Did anyone hear the moans of those poor office practice girls who ran off and assembled that 90-page booklet for Mr. Pacini's creative writing class?...

Well, so much for that now down to business.

SOME THINGS classic and some thing new will be shown at next Tuesday's Experimental Film Festival in the TN cafeteria. To spice up its bi-weekly film showings the Fine Arts Department will present a series of eight classic and experimental art films.

The selection of cinema shorts includes Alone With The Monsters, a surrealist study in cruelty; Blinkity Blank, a far out flick which plays with the laws of vision; Fragment of Seeking, an experimental film dealing with teenage narcissism; Free Fall, a powerful free association of 'college' film; Gone For Tomorrow, a sad and whimsical record of the destruction of an old San Francisco mansion; Lawn Party, slapstick comedy about a group of picnickers and a lawn mower; A Time Out of War, Academy Award winning Civil War Drama; and A Trip to the Moon, an early trick film.

Bacon a Treat For Any Meal

Bacon just for breakfast? No, indeed! It can come pleasantly to any of the three meals.

It's true, of course, that bacon makes a special meal of breakfast. Its unforgettable aroma will get the family out of bed and help speed them to the breakfast table but it can be equally tempting at the other meals.

What's more, bacon is not all flavor, says a meat authority. Two slices will supply 68 calories. It contains first-class protein like other meats and is a source of minerals and vitamins.

Bacon at Noon

At the noon meal, bacon is probably most famous in the popular bacon-lettuce-tomato sandwich, often called "BLT." But variations on this sandwich are many as well as tempting.

There's bacon and peanut butter. Egg salad takes on sparkle when crumbled bits of cooked bacon are added to it. Add a layer of liver sausage to the original BLT and be prepared for another plate pleaser.

Try two strips of cooked bacon inside the grilled cheese sandwich. Use it with a baked bean sandwich that's made with thinly sliced onion and chili sauce.

Bacon is always good as a garnish for the open-face sandwiches made with meats or poultry. Slightly rippled bacon strips atop sandwiches make delightful nibbling to stimulate wayward appetites.

For either lunch or dinner, try bacon with hot breads or salads. When crumbled, cooked bacon goes into biscuit dough, muffin or corn bread batter for interesting texture and flavor.

What about waffles? After batter is spooned into the waffle iron, place short strips of bacon on top and bake.

Wilted Lettuce Salad or Wilted Greens actually use the drippings from bacon as part of the dressing. To make this, fry four strips of bacon, cut up, until crisp. Add to this one-fourth cup of vinegar and two tablespoons water. Pour over a quart of washed lettuce or shredded greens tossed with two or three chopped green onions and seasoned with salt and pepper. Garnish with chopped, hard-cooked bacon, if desired.

Bacon can be wrapped around lamb burgers that are about to be broiled as well as two beef burger patties which enclose a slice of onion, crumbled blue cheese or chopped, stuffed green olives.

Use bacon for wrapping fruits, too, like apple wedges on a skewer, bananas for a meat garnish or peach halves for an entree.

Here's bacon in an unusual muffin made with applesauce, spiced with cinnamon.

Bacon-Apple Muffins

6 slices bacon
2 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg, beaten
1-3 cup milk
¾ cup applesauce

Cook bacon until lightly browned and crisp. Drain, reserving drippings. Break bacon into pieces. Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Mix together eggs, milk, applesauce, one-third cup bacon drippings and pieces of bacon. Add liquid to dry ingredients and stir only until dry ingredients are moistened. Fill greased 2½-inch muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven (400 degree F.) 18 to 20 minutes. Yield: 12 muffins.

Braise That Rump Cut, Sirloin Tip

A new bride just back from the honeymoon may be confused about what meat cut to purchase when the groom asks her to prepare a pot-roast.

A number of different cuts are available including sirloin tip, rolled rump, blade or arm, declares a meat expert. The first two are from the hindquarter while the latter come from the chuck section.

Neither the sirloin tip nor rolled rump will have bones to complicate carving for the couple. When they are high quality, cook by a dry heat method (roasting). Otherwise, they should be cooked by braising or a moist heat method, thus giving what we call a pot-roast.

Pot-Roast Caprice

3 to 4-pound beef sirloin tip, rump, blade or arm pot-roast
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup water
½ cup apple juice
2 whole onions
4 whole cloves
½ cups dried prunes
Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add water, apple juice, onions and whole cloves. Cover tightly and simmer 2 hours. Add prunes and continue cooking 1 to 1½ hours or until meat is tender and prunes are done. Remove meat, prunes and onions and thicken liquid for gravy.

Cereal Medley

A choice of cereals on the table in individual-portion size boxes (Amy Vanderbilt says that size box on the table is permissible) or in attractive bowls, lazy Susan style, makes appealing breakfast, lunch or supper offering. A pitcher of milk and perhaps one of half-and-half. How about some dairy sour cream for serving with a choice of seasonal fruits?

Stuff, Bake Those Big Tomatoes

LADIES' LUNCH

Stuffed baked tomatoes taste good and always look attractive. Baked Tomatoes Stuffed Potatoes

Green Peas Hot Biscuits

Sherbet with Fruit Sauce

BAKED TOMATOES

6 medium tomatoes

1 pound spinach, cooked and chopped fine

crumbs

1-3 cup plus soft bread crumbs

6 strips crisply cooked bacon, crumbled

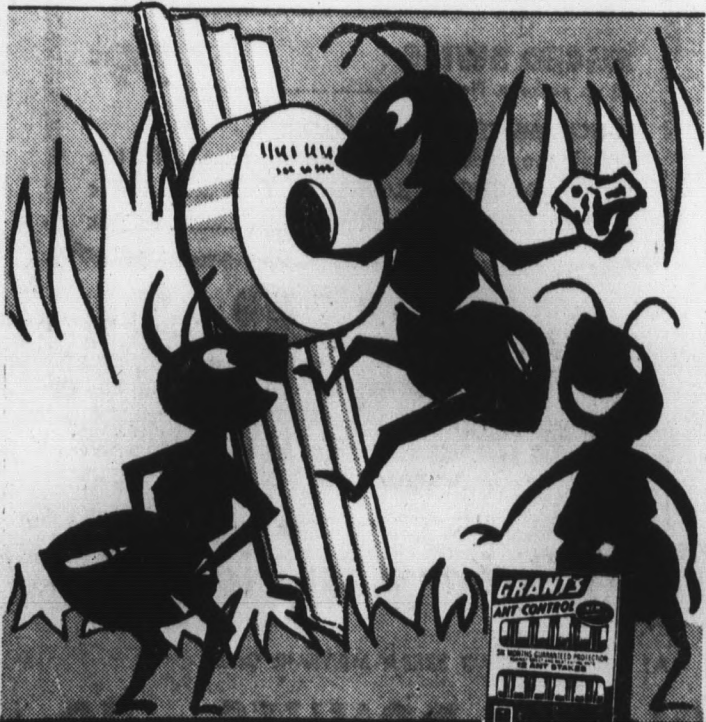

Salt and pepper to taste

1½ tablespoons bacon fat

Scoop out centers from tomatoes. Mix spinach with 1-3 cup bread crumbs, bacon, salt and pepper; spoon into tomato cavities. Mix the remaining ¾ cup bread crumbs with the bacon fat and pat over tomato tops. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until tomatoes are hot through and topping is browned—about 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Native Cookery From New Mexico

Since the earliest days of settlement of New Mexico, native cookery has been a far-famed tradition. For exotic, piquant flavor, these native foods are hard to surpass.

In the New Mexico of today with its nuclear age projects and scenic wonders, the blending of pre-Columbus Spanish, Indian and 'merican cooking heritages predominate.

Popular dishes to serve with spicy, child laden enchiladas — or just a plain American food — are Spanish rice, guacamole salad, and a bread delight called "sopaipilla" (so pa-PEE-yan). The recipe ingredients can be found at any grocery store.

For sopaipillas use any standard baking powder biscuit recipe with these variations: Cut shortening to ¼ the usual amount, use warm water instead of milk, and mix as usual. Refrigerate dough at least couple of hours before rolling; over night or longer is fine. Roll paper thin, cut into 3 inch squares. Drop into hot fat, using egg turner to immerse the dough. (If sopaipilla does not rise, either dough is too thick or fat should be hotter.) Fry until golden. These are light as a New Mexico cloud and are delicious eaten with butter, honey or jelly added to the hollow center after cooking.

The famous eating place, La Placita, in picturesque Old Town in Albuquerque, New Mexico, shares its guacamole salad recipe:

3 ripe avocados
1 tsp. chopped garlic or garlic

salt
1 ripe tomato, chopped or ½ cup canned tomatoes
½ cup shredded lettuce

Put all ingredients through food grinder or into food blender. When smooth add ½ tsp. salt or salt to taste and serve on a lettuce leaf, or as a dip.

SPANISH RICE

2 tbsp. fat
1 cup raw rice
1 large onion
¼ green pepper, chopped
2 tsp. salt
2 tsp. chili powder
1½ cups canned tomatoes
2 cups water

Brown raw rice in hot fat, add onion, green pepper, salt, chili powder and tomatoes. Mix well, and add just enough of the water to cover the mixture. Cover with lid and allow mixture to slowly simmer until rice is tender, about 30 minutes. Avoid stirring, but more water may be added gradually to prevent sticking. Remove lid and cook 10 minutes longer to dry out mixture. (Serves 12). Ground meat may be added along with onions after rice is browned for a main meat dish.

A Scallion And Green Bean Salad

A cold vegetable salad that adds zest to a spaghetti dinner. Spaghetti with Mushroom and Red Wine Sauce
Green Bean and Scallion Salad
Bread
Peach Cream Cake
Tea

½ pound snap beans, ends cut and left whole
2 bunches small scallions (trim off about half of green tops)
1 cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons mixed pickling spice
2 large bay leaves
Romaine

Drop beans into rapidly boiling salted water; cover and boil until tender but not soggy — 6 minutes or longer. Drain and place in a shallow dish with raw scallions. In a small sauce pan simmer vinegar with salt, pepper, sugar, pickling spice and bay leaves for about 5 minutes; strain through a sieve onto beans and scallions. Cover, cool and refrigerate for 3 to 6 hours. Drain and serve on romaine. Makes 4 servings.

Note: There should be 6 to 8 scallions in each bunch.

Try Swordfish Steaks For Your Family

Such an easy way to prepare fish for your family!

Swordfish Steaks Parsley Potatoes
Green Peas Salad Bowl
Peach Pie Beverage

SWORDFISH STEAKS

2 swordfish steaks (each about 1 pound and 1 inch thick)
½ teaspoon salt
Paprika
1-3 cup butter

Place the swordfish steaks in a buttered shallow pan into which they just fit — we used an oblong glass baking dish (11½ by 7½ by 1½ inches). Sprinkle top surface of fish with the salt and some paprika; dot with the butter. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until fish flakes easily with a fork and is opaque through — about 20 minutes. Serve fish with the good buttery juices in the pan. Makes 4 servings.

POLITICAL PARADE

Emil "Al" Holgerson, former Mayor of Half Moon Bay, Veteran San Mateo County Democratic political leader, has accepted the City Chairmanship for Half Moon Bay in the Dan Monaco for Congress Campaign. Monaco, an attorney is a Democratic and a candidate for Congress in the 11th Congressional District (San Mateo County).

Holgerson was Chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee for two terms, 1956-60; a member of the State Central Committee and was one of the organizers of the Coast-side Democratic Club.

He has been affiliated for many years with the H.M.B. Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club and is a member of the Pillar Point Breakwater Committee.

B. F. (Bernie) Sisk, member of the powerful House Rules Committee and a California Congressman from the 16th District (Madera, Fresno, Merced) has endorsed Democrat Roy Archibald for election Nov. 14 in the San Mateo County race for Congress.

Sisk, in a letter to Archibald, said: "You are certainly well qualified... Through the years in which you have been active in Washington in performing an effective job, you have acquired contacts and a knowledge of the Federal government and the operations of Congress which will be exceedingly valuable to the people of your District."

Archibald, for ten years a member of the San Mateo City Council and in the past a national legislative consultant to the National Education Association (NEA) is regarded as a leading candidate among Democrats seeking the Congressional post.

A dinner honoring William H. Draper, congressional candidate, will be held Friday, October 27, at the Peninsula Social Club, 100 North B Street, San Mateo. It is sponsored by the Draper Congressional Campaign Committee.

Mrs. James O. Miller and Theodore Blumberg are co-chairmen of the event, which will be climaxed by an address by Draper, Republican candidate for the congressional seat vacated by the late J. Arthur Younger.

Reception will be at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. The event is open to the public. Tickets are $4.00 per person and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Miller.

Whitmore for Congress campaign headquarters in Redwood City, 721 El Camino Real, opened this week with a large staff of volunteers engaged in distributing campaign materials under the direction of Mrs. Warren Jones.

The office will be the center for mailing and precinct contact work during the Congressional campaign, according to Mrs. Jones, who heads volunteer activities in behalf of Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore's candidacy.

Visitors, information seekers and Whitmore supporters are invited to stop by the Redwood City office for literature and supplies, Mrs. Jones said. The headquarters will be open daily during business hours, and its volunteer crew plans frequent evening work sessions to get out the heavy volume of campaign mailings preceding the November 14 Congressional primary election.

Bruce Bartlett, well known San Mateo attorney, has been named Woodside chairman of the Draper Congressional Campaign, it was announced by Dean Watkins, campaign chairman.

Bartlett, who is a lifetime resident of San Mateo County, has been active in Republican political affairs for twenty years.

He is a member of the San Mateo Bar Association, the order of Daedalians, San Mateo Elks, Peninsula Sportman's Club, California Alumnae Association, and International Foot-Printers Association, and served as chairman of the Elks National Foundation.

He is also part owner of Raybould & Bartlett, oldest real estate firm in San Mateo County.

Ray Savage, Broadmoor police chief, and Charles "Curly" Linder, a long-time Woodside area resident well-known in civic affairs, issued strong statements in support of their former opponent.

Nationally Famed Industrialist Heads Shirley's Drive

Shirley Temple Black has announced the appointment of industrialist Stanley Hiller, Jr. as General Chairman of her campaign for Congress.

Hiller, 43, was the founder of Hiller Aircraft Company and its President for more than 20 years. A widely known leader in the aircraft field, Mr. Hiller resides in Atherton, part of the 11th Congressional District.

In accepting the campaign chairmanship, Hiller said, "I am extremely pleased to join with all the distinguished civic and business leaders of our county who are supporting Mrs. Black. We are interested in assuring the best, most effective representation for our district in Congress. Mrs. Black, I believe, is well qualified to meet these responsibilities and will do an outstanding job for San Mateo County.

"She has been a leader in many fields of civic activity. As a result, she knows the strengths, problems and objectives of our area. She will be an outstanding Member of Congress. I urge everyone in our district to become acquainted with her platform, as I have, and to vote her into office on November 14."

Stanley Hiller, Jr. was one of the 10 "Outstanding Young Men of the Year" in 1951, as selected by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce. Today, he has retired from his many industrial and business activities to devote time to personal and financial investment interests, principally in California.

Shirley Temple Black has announced the appointment of Jean McLaughlin Dewey as her special assistant in charge of campaign scheduling and the organization of special events throughout San Mateo County.

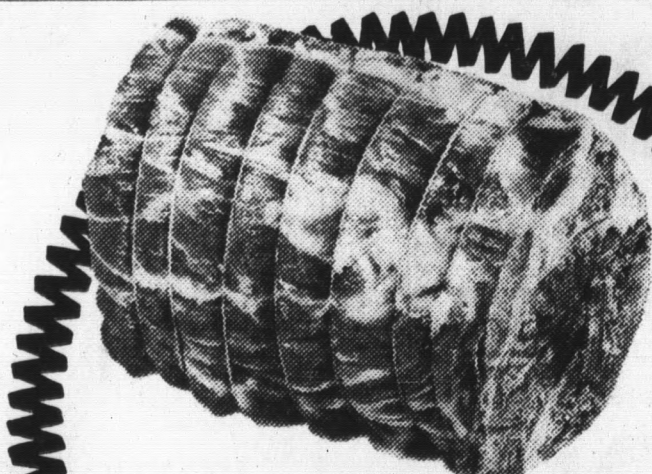

Mrs. Dewey served as private secretary to the late Congressman J. Arthur Younger upon his election in 1952, traveling to Washington, D.C. with him for his first term in office. She then returned to manage his District office until 1961. At that time, she was named Assistant to the Northern California Director of the Republican State Central Committee. In 1962, Mrs. Dewey was appointed Assistant Campaign Director for the Northern California Nixon for Governor Committee. In 1965, she served as Executive Secretary to the United Republican Finance Committee of San Mateo County, coordinating a major fund-raising dinner. She is a former Vice President of the California Republican League for Hillsborough, Burlingame and San Mateo.

In referring to Mrs. Dewey, Shirley Temple Black said, "Her background in San Mateo County political organization work is unequalled. Jean is widely known and respected by all those she has known and worked with over the years. She will be a terrific asset to my campaign, and I am proud to have her assistance."

Shirley Temple Black also announced the first members of her Finance Committee in the forthcoming Congressional Election in the 11th District. "I am proud that those outstanding community leaders are supporting me in this crucial and difficult undertaking. They are all men of extraordinary ability. My campaign will be financed entirely by the free-will contributions of those who agree with my views on the vital issues of today. These members, and others who will join them, will constitute my campaign finance committee."

POLITICAL NOTES

Government Must Give All Jobs: Monaco

Dan Monaco, candidate for Congress, Sunday at ceremonies marking the official opening of his headquarters in San Mateo at 1208 South El Camino, promised his supporters a campaign "based on a program to meet the needs of the people of the Eleventh Congressional District — and not on personalities."

He said he subscribes strongly to an "eleventh commandment" for Democrats — "with no Democrat speaking ill of a fellow Democratic candidate" in the special election.

"The crucial issues facing the people of this county and this country are the war in Vietnam and the strife in the streets of America," Monaco told an audience of more than 100.

His solution for the war in Vietnam, he said, boiled down to: halting the bombing and bringing the issue to the United Nations for discussion and solution.

"The war in the cities can be solved by a program of full employment and full freedom for all Americans. The genius of American industry must join hand, head and heart with government to put to work everybody who wants to work — with the government assuming the biggest share of the program."

"The government must become the employer of last resort so that anyone looking for work, and not finding it, is automatically given a job."

"If this is done stupidly, it will turn out to be a WPA, but with a little administrative energy and foresight it can be worked out so that such jobs will be distributed throughout the labor market — so that, in fact, they are not visible as such."

Monaco urged that we "halt and scrap the war in order to save our cities."

"We must do something about the causes of Negro violence that will not only help the rioters — but everyone."

Other operating headquarters in the Monaco campaign are located at 1801 Junipero Serra, Daly City, and 417 Lathrop, Redwood City.

Monaco, an attorney, is the former chairman of the San Mateo County Democratic Central Committee.

The appointment of Wesley Glasson, a former State and National Junior Chamber of Commerce top level official, as Community Coordinator for the Dan Monaco for Congress Campaign, was announced today.

Glasson, 513 Seville Way, San Mateo, will direct activities of the Monaco Campaign in the 11th Congressional District among civic and service clubs.

A past director of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce and past executive vice president of the State Junior Chamber of Commerce, Glasson also served as President of the San Mateo Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is also past president of the San Mateo Lions Club and has been affiliated for many years with local Boy Scouts and United Crusade organizations.

San Mateo County will be the host of a majority of State Legislators. The event is the Ryan Testimonial Dinner being held at the South San Francisco Elk's Club, September 28th.

The dinner is being held in honor of Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, who said, "Only very short speeches will be allowed." Guest speakers, State Legislators, and congressional candidates have been urged to keep the program light, but Shirley Temple jokes are to be kept at a minimum.

Among the lawmakers who will be saluting Assemblyman Ryan are John T. Knox, Chairman of the Assembly Municipal and County Government Committee; John F. Foran, Chairman of the Assembly Transportation and Commerce Committee; Robert Crown, Chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee; Alfred E. Alquist, Vice-Chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee; Mrs. March K. Fong, Vice-Chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee; Mike Cullen, Vice-Chairman of the Assembly Public Utilities and Corporations Committee; and David Negri, Vice-Chairman of the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey, Republican candidate for Congress from the 11th (San Mateo County) District, has announced that only accredited representatives of press, radio and TV will be allowed to attend his press conferences.

Noting that other candidates have fallen into the practice of bringing clques of supporters to applaud and cheer "if they even state their names," McCloskey, the only moderate Republican in the race, said: "The applause and cheering are fine for political rallies — and I love to hear it."

"But a press conference is called to give information to the media members — it is, in my opinion, a serious affair, not a rally."

The Shirley Temple Black for Congress Committee headquarters at 950 El Camino Real, Belmont, has released a campaign itinerary through Sunday, October 1. Commitments include the following:

Jefferson Elementary Teachers Lose in Bid for Personnel Unit

The Jefferson Elementary School District's Classroom Teachers' Association has failed to gain Board of Trustee approval of a proposed Personnel Committee to which would have been delegated "the responsibility for making recommendations for vacant positions."

The request was denied by trustees, at the urging of District Supt. Frank Greenwood. The teachers' unit envisioned the committee as one made up of teachers, administrators and the district's director of personnel, who would have made its recommendations to the district superintendent, who in turn makes his recommendations to the Board of Trustees.

The association thought such a committee should set qualifications, advertise the vacancy to the staff, professional placement agencies and "other appropriate" agencies, review information on and conduct interviews with prospective candidates who meet the specific qualifications and recommend at least three potential candidates for each position.

Spokesmen for the teachers said the JCTA was seeking "involvement" of the total staff in making personnel recommendations to the superintendent.

Greenwood said he questioned the qualifications of the teachers to specify what the administration and the Board of Trustees is looking for in its personnel.

But, more important, he asserted, is the propriety of making confidential files of prospective or present personnel available to other than a limited number of administrative staff members.

Greenwood said he does not "feel at liberty" to divulge to anyone but his immediate staff the contents of the confidential files.

Additionally, the superintendent said he saw the prospect of having to relieve the committee-involved teacher of classroom duties and the hiring of a substitute.

The responsibility for personnel decisions ultimately falls upon the superintendents' shoulders, Greenwood explained.

Trustee Edward Tomasello said such a personnel unit would take away the prerogative of both the superintendent and the people, whom he feels are running the district through their election of trustees, who in turn appoint a superintendent to administer the district.

Child Falls Three Stories, Injuries Light

A 16-month-old child fell 25 feet from an apartment window in South San Francisco Thursday, and apparently escaped serious injury.

Police said John A. Saunty, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Saunty of Grand Avenue, South San Francisco, fell from a third-story window at 816 Antoinette Lane, about 11:50 a.m.

The child was in the home of a baby sitter when the accident occurred, police said, and apparently crawled over the window sill unobserved.

He struck a picket fence beneath the window, then fell into a planter.

He was reported in satisfactory condition at Peninsula Hospital where he was taken for treatment of cuts and bruises.

2 Arrested, 1 Injured

A South San Francisco teen-ager was hospitalized with puncture wounds Thursday night after police broke up a melee involving nine youths at Mel's Jr. Drive-in Restaurant on Linden Avenue.

Seventeen-year-old David Rosa, of 238 Rainer Avenue, South San Francisco, is reported in good condition at Kaiser Hospital, where he was taken for treatment of back wounds inflicted with a ball point pen during the fight.

Police said Rosa and three other youths were sitting in a car outside the drive-in restaurant when five other teen-agers approached the car "and made disparaging remarks."

A brawl ensued, and the restaurant employees telephoned police.

After officers broke up the fight, a 22-caliber automatic pistol was discovered in a car occupied by the five boys who allegedly started the fight. A check also revealed the car was stolen last week in San Francisco.

David A. Jowe, 18, of San Francisco, driver of the car, was arrested for automobile theft, and another teen-ager, Melvin D. Mah, 17, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon in connection with the attack on Rosa.

Two Accused Of Train Burglary

South San Francisco police arrested two men last Tuesday after they allegedly broke into a Southern Pacific Railroad boxcar and stole a quantity of car tires.

Police said a third suspect fled in a second car as officers arrived on the scene — a freight loading siding in South San Francisco.

After receiving information of three suspicious men lurking around the boxcars in the loading yard shortly before 2 a.m., officers George Baptista, Joe Panso and Patrick Sullivan responded to the area and spotted three men loading tires into three separate cars parked nearby.

Arrested were George J. Bouie, 22, of 118 Gates Street, San Francisco and James L. Collins, 23, of 71B Potomac Street, San Francisco. The third man has not, as yet, been identified, police said.

The pair was taken into custody after officers found more than 17 auto tires inside their respective vehicles.

The tires were of the same type stored in the freight cars, police said.

Both men are presently awaiting arraignment in South San Francisco jail for possession of stolen property, burglary and are also en route to the U.S. Marshal's office for alleged theft from an interstate shipment, police said.

Driver Hurt By Fireworks

An ambulance driver was injured in Daly City early Tuesday morning when a firecracker was thrown through the window of the ambulance from a car carrying several teen-age boys.

Peter Durigan, a driver for the Mercy Ambulance Co., was treated for face and eye burns at Mary's Help Hospital after the incident occurred at the intersection of Park Plaza Drive and Eighty-seventh Street.

A spokesman for the ambulance company said Durigan and an attendant were speeding when the firecracker exploded against the windshield and hit Durigan's face.

They met the car carrying the teen-age boys shortly after turning onto Park Plaza Drive, and the firecracker exploded against rear if there had been a patient in the vehicle, and I hate to think of what would have happened."

Durigan was released from the hospital after treatment. Another ambulance was dispatched to the aid of the heart attack victim.

Brunan Wins $14,900 Suit Over Yard

An inveterate do-it-yourselfer won a court case yesterday because of the meticulous way he went about improving his San Bruno property.

A Superior Court jury awarded Mr. and Mrs. Milton Walden of 1900 Crestwood Drive $14,900 for a part of their back yard being taken by the state for Junipero Serra Freeway. The Waldens had sought $17,500 but the state had offered only $5,700 prior to trial and set a value of $8,400 during the trial.

Walden, manager of a San Francisco bar, testified about all the work he has done on the Rollingwood district home during the 10 years he has lived there, and submitted carefully kept records showing that he had put 8,900 hours of work into the project.

The part of his land being taken for the freeway includes some of his garden and a barbecue house he built.

Mr. and Mrs. Walden were represented by attorney Robert S. Webber in the trial, which went for six days before Superior Judge Hugh Donovan.

Someday They Will 'Kill
The Umpire,' Literally

(Ed. Note: Following is a look into the future. Today it's fiction. Tomorrow... who knows.)

THE INEVITABLE

It was, after all, inevitable; inevitable since whoever it was that invented baseball, the French or the Russians or Abner Doubleday, decided that an impartial judge should make decisions as to the outcome of the many various facets of the game. And so it was that an umpire was put into the game, and so it had come to pass — the inevitable.

The umpire, at once the Almighty and the natural enemy; at once the omnipresent voice of both doom and hope; at once cruel and yet in his own way at times kindly; meticulously honest, demanding — an inhuman chesty armored monster who just had to be killed.

They had been threatening it — although not always altogether seriously — for years. In Kansas City in 1886 they had once taken it seriously enough, though, to hang a sign on the outfield fence: "Please do not shoot the umpire; he is doing the best he can." The umpire had in the meantime been kicked, punched, shoved, cursed at and spit on. He had been called blind, dishonest, and just plain stupid. He had been mobbed, underpaid, and ignored. He had, in fact, been just about everything but killed.

That the law of averages hadn't caught up to him in more than a century was already amazing enough. So it shouldn't have come as such a great surprise. After all, had assassination ever avoided the great or the evil? Had it ever avoided the men who had to make momentous decisions? No. Only the umpire had ever been the exception. And even when it happened it required virtually perfect circumstances, as when, every several decades, Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Venus, and Mercury are in juxtaposition with earth and the moon. But while our little world didn't end, Big Bill Clement's did.

Big Bill was the right umpire, the killer was right, and so was the circumstance.

First, Big Bill. He was large, loud, and never wrong. In his 35 years as an umpire (25 of them in the majors), he had gained a reputation as being tough but fair to the extent that he had never knowingly made an improper or poor decision. He had been, if not liked, respected. He had been not only through the mill, but over, under and around it; popped by a fan once in a little Midwest league, almost lynched in Texas during his rookie umpiring season. And he had fought back — always. Decked a class "C" manager who made the mistake of charging him "too close," as Big Bill put it ("The $25 fine was worth it."). Had shoved more than one irate player away from him, and had single-handedly broken up numerous field fights.

Arms folded, impervious to catcalls, cursing, wind, rain and God, always right, always fair, Big Bill Clement represented the perfect Kafka Father Figure. He was perfectly cast as the first murdered umpire in the history of baseball.

The murderer was Jimmy Kelley, Jr., son of Jimmy Kelly, big, glamorous Hall of Fame pitcher who with his blazing fastball had won 200 games before age 30, and who, at age 30, hurt his arm and won only 10 more games. So flamboyant Jimmy Kelly, who might have compiled unattainable records, decided to retire and sire a son who he could mold in his image.

But Jimmy, Jr., just couldn't be molded in the image of the 6 foot, 200 pounder; not when he grew to only 5'10, 160; not when it was discovered that his arm wasn't strong enough to pitch blazers; not when he showed a proclivity towards books even though his father had never finished the eighth grade (and was proud of it); not when Jr. was dark rather than red-headed and therefore not very flamboyant at all.

So Jimmy, Jr., for the first time in his life had gone against the wishes of his father, who had wanted him to break in "tough," who had been pushing and glaring at him from the stands. Jimmy, Jr., had entered college, gotten a teaching credential — and, in a quiet way, starred on the school baseball team. He made up for lack of a powerful arm with accuracy and the knowledge of what base to throw to, for his powerless swing with bat deftness. And he had speed and could think, so upon graduation signed a contract sans bonus and, after several years' apprenticeship in the minors, away from his books for six months of the year but pleasing his father for 12 months of the year, he became a proficient enough left fielder to make the majors, and, with a walk here, a bunt there, and even an occasional single, became a 10-year man before many fans realized he had ever been in the league.

The most that could ever have been said for Jimmy, Jr., in that decade, was that Big Bill Clement had once called him "A real gent," after he had called Kelly out on a fastball in the dirt and Kelly had refused to argue. Clement, of course, had not made a mistake, but still he had admired Kelly for admitting his own faulty judgment.

And now, the circumstance had to be just right. Kelly, Jr.'s team was fighting for the pennant late in the season, and playing the first of a three game series against their pennant rivals. This was to be the last meeting of the two teams for the year, and a series edge for either team could decide the works.

Clement, arms folded grandiosely, face set like a composite of the Rushmore heroes with a face mask, was working the first game behind the plate. And what a first game it was! A scoreless tie for eight innings, and then the first half of the ninth, and then Kelly, Jr., led off the bottom of the ninth with a single. He was sacrificed to second, advanced to third on a grounder to the right side, and was on third with his team's cleanup batter at the plate.

Under ordinary circumstances, this would have been an ideal situation for Kelly's team, but in this particular case it wasn't. The cleanup man on Kelly's team was one of the greatest hitters of his era — with just one weakness. There was one pitcher in the league who never failed to make him look like an all-field, no-hit scouting report, and that man was pitching this day.

Why not send in a pinch-hitter? Because there is a strange unwritten law in baseball which states that while a manager may at any time make any seemingly mysterious switch which his whims deem suitable (such as pinch-hitting a .200 hitting, right-hander against a left-hander in place of a .300 hitting left-hander), he does not, under any circumstances, pinch-hit for a popular hitting hero even though it may be a proven statistical fact that under the circumstances, the hitting hero is helpless.

It is, in such cases, perfectly legitimate to lose pennants without fear of vulgar insinuations from the Commissioner's office, so long as the great hitter, is not humiliated and his fans not offended.

So the great hitter, pitiful though he was in this instance, was to be allowed to go down gracefully. But with two strikes on him, the always conservative Kelly, Jr., feeling the eyes of his father upon him, and perhaps imagining the feel of crisp green on his finger tips, and, perhaps, for the first time in his life being impatient, attempted to steal home — to win the game, to, perhaps, eventually, win the pennant, and to, perhaps, ultimately, win the real respect of his Great Father.

There was a cloud of dust and a hearty, "Yerout," as the imperturbable Clement coolly decided the Fate of Himself, both Kellys, eventually, Kelly, Jr.'s team, the opposing team, and all figures connected in all ways with all principals involved. All this despite the fact that the opposing catcher had clearly missed the tag by several inches because of a beautifully baffling slide by Kelly which never received Clement's recognition simply because Clement wasn't aware that the colorless, obscure Kelly was capable of such a slide.

A new school rests proudly atop the world of Peninsula prep football this week.

Capuchino High School, which has taken a back seat in the South San Francisco Warriors in the past three years, hopped into the driver's seat and literally ran over a bewildered Warrior eleven last week for a convincing, 27-20 victory over the defending North Peninsula League champions at Clifford Field.

The win ended a three-year streak for South S.F. which had included 28 contests in a row without defeat. The MPLers,

Set 'Welfare
Fraud' Trial

Trial of Mrs. Pearl Gromowsky of Fresno, formerly a resident of Pacifica, on charges of welfare fraud has been scheduled for October 17 in Municipal Court in South-San Francisco.

The district attorney's office charged that Mrs. Gromowsky, 53, while receiving welfare aid for herself and two children, "was living with the owner of the home she and her children were occupying in Pacifica... and furnished the welfare department false information regarding the identity of her landlord and the number of persons occupying the house."

Inspector Jack F. Stuart said she got $668 more in aid than she was entitled to.

who must now be favored to win their conference title, made it look easy after intermission. The score was not indicative of how well Cap dominated the game.

Gordy Young's charges held the highly-touted Warrior attack to a mere 32 yards in the first half and another 22 in the second half while they ground out a total of 222 yards through the middle of the Warrior defense.

"The difference this year was that our boys hit like crazy and knew they could win," shouted a jubilant Young after the game. "This has got to be the biggest thrill of my coaching career. We really took the game to them."

Despite the low yardage production the Warriors actually held an early 14-0 lead. On the opening kickoff Russ Cottrell, the top back in the NPL last season, carried the ball 18 yards upfield. But a penalty forced a re-kick and the grateful Cottrell raced 78 yards for a Warrior TD.

With just 2:43 left in the first quarter a bad snap from center on an attempted punt caused Cap's Greg Hargis to fumble on the two-yard line where Warrior Jim Olmo fell on the ball. Two plays later junior quarterback Willie Ergas ran in a keeper and it appeared the Warriors were running away towards another undefeated season. The kick made it 14-0.

Exit Warriors... Enter Capuchino.

The Mustangs started upfield from their own 31-yard line late in the second period on the bull-like rushes of senior half-back Dan Mahle and fullback Mike Aguzin to end Mike Todd gave the Mustangs continued possession on the Warrior 37. Two more quick passes, one to Hargis and the other to Don Jepson, put the ball inside the 10-yard line.

Then Jepson's second reception of the drive put the ball on the one foot line from where, with just six seconds left in the half, Aguzin ran in a keeper for the first Cap score.

were able to get only two minor sustained drives going against the determined Mustang line. Then the Mustangs struck again.

Cap was driving for a score in the third period when a pass interception by SSF's Ed Aguilar gave the Warriors control on their own 11. Cottrell ran one play for four yards but fumbled on the next play and Cap tackle Joe Bauer fell on the ball on the six. It took Aguzin just one play to bring the Mustangs to within one point.

But Cottrell gave the up-then silent SSF fans something to roar about when he took the ensuing kickoff and ran 80 yards for a touchdown. A beautiful fake reverse handoff to Rocky Walker fooled the entire Cap team and Cottrell had a clear sideline path all the way.

Then Cap started driving for their final two scores. Starting at their own 20 they marched 63 yards upfield in 11 plays only to have another pass interception.

this time by Armando

Realyvasquez, momentarily halt the advance.

But quarterback Ergas attempting to run an option play, fumbled on the very first Warrior play and Cap's mammoth tackle, 250-pound Leo Malone, recovered on the 13-yard line. A well-executed smash up the middle by Mahle on Cap's first try made it 20-19, Warriors.

Cap's left-footed, soccer-style kicker, Al Kopatschek, tied it up and from then it was just a matter of time.

The Mustangs won the game the next time they gained possession. Starting on SSF's 44-yard line they rambled to TD territory in eight plays with the final score coming on a seven-yard pass from Aguzin to Hargis with just 1:02 showing on the clock. The Capuchino rooting section went wild.

The Warriors made a valiant effort in the final minute making 31 yards in three plays. But two incomplete passes made them fall short and the longest NPL streak in any major sport ended.

Bad feelings between fans almost erupted right after the game, when the SSF student session. Starting on SSF's had been mumbling incoherently into the mike most of the night, started ranting and screaming, "We're still number one."

A Capuchino roofer had the perfect answer for him, though as he quickly pointed to the scoreboard and smiled: "Sorry about that."

Falcons Set Grid Record

BY ED SESSLER
Post Correspondent

Crestmoor High School established a pleasing precedent last week as far as football is concerned, and one that augers well for the Falcons' future.

For the first time in the San Bruno school's history, the Falcons are unbeaten after their first two gridiron contests, scoring a 38-12 victory over Terra Nova last night at Burlingame Field.

The victory was Crestmoor's second straight after a season opening, 12-6 triumph over El Camino last week, and was highlighted by junior halfback Ernie Hall, who ran for three Falcon touchdowns and gained over 80 yards.

Along with Hall's efforts on the ground, the Falcons got an impressive effort from quarterback Glenn Grossman, who passed for one touchdown and kept the Crestmoor offense moving consistently.

Terra Nova, making its first start of the season, got the game's initial touchdown and another in the second quarter, but that was all the scoring the Coastside team could muster against a Falcon team which didn't relent in its offensive attack up to the final gun.

Hall, who started last year as a soph, scored his touchdowns on runs of eight, one, and one yards. The Falcons also got scoring efforts from Juris Dumps, who scampered 35 yards to pay dirt; Jim Thompson, who caught a 50-yard pass from Grossman; and Pete Henry, who added the final Falcon tally on an 18-yard run. Crestmoor also got a safety when a Terra Nova center snap sailed out of the end zone.

The passing combination of quarterback Jess Bonner and end Bob Aehzinger accounted for both Tiger touchdowns, on passes of 18 and 5 yards.

Crestmoor's defense, which held Terra Nova to five pass receptions for the entire contest, was led by John Levi, Jeff Wolf, Carl Jarvinen and Bob Lundblad.

The Falcons will meet San Mateo in their next outing on October 6 at Capuchino, when they will attempt an upset and further addition to their new precedent.

Scoring: Terra Nova — Aehzinger, 18 pass from Bonner (kick failed); Crestmoor — Hall, 8 run (kick failed); Crestmoor — Safety, (bad snap from center landed out of end zone); Crestmoor — Hall, 1 run (kick failed); Terra Nova — Aehzinger, 5 pass from Bonner (kick failed); Crestmoor — Hall, 1 run (kick failed); Crestmoor — Thompson, 20 pass from Grossman (kick failed); Crestmoor — Dumps, 35 run (kick failed); Crestmoor — Henry, 18 run (kick failed).

Serra Passing Demolishes Dons

Coach's Son Leads Attack

By JOHN HORGAN
Post Sports Writer

With a tremendous aerial bombardment unleashed by the talented right arm of young Jess Freitas Jr., Serra High School's high-scoring Padres are suddenly a football team to be reckoned with.

Freitas, son of the Serra coach, ripped up Aragon of San Mateo last week by tossing five touchdown passes in a 41-0 rout of the Dons.

The week previous, Freitas, only a junior, threw for three scores and 205 yards against Westmoor in the Pads 34-7 opening victory over the Rams. The two victories gave Serra its best start since 1962 when the Pads were 8-1-0 and the toast of San Mateo County prep football.

Freitas' statistics last week are enough to send rival coaches heading for the Milltown. At a glance, the heady field general:

—Completed 16 of 26 attempts.

—Threw for 287 yards and the five scores.

—And did not allow an interception against him.

The Padres, who tangle with arch-rival Hillsdale this weekend, got loads of help from a fine corps of receivers. Freitas heaved scoring lobbs to Lynn Swann (16 and 29 yards), Pat McGlennon (54 and 10 yards) and Steve Morello (53 yards).

Serra's other score came in the third quarter on a three-yard plunge by fullback Steve Fegan, with the scoreboard reading 34-0.

Jess Freitas Sr., while pleased with the win, did not act over-enthusiastic about it: "I think you have to praise the entire offensive line. They (Aragon) never touched our quarterbacks all day."

"They forced us out of the

Freitas made a prediction too about this Serra team: "The WCAL team that beats us will have to earn it. We aren't going to beat ourselves. We won't give it to them."

He felt that the Pads would lose "a couple" of WCAL contests, but that "We'll be in every one we play."

And, after watching last week's rout of the Dons he wouldn't get many arguments.

Serra ran up a 20-0 halftime lead on three TD passes by Freitas and that was the ballgame. Aragon never really threatened once during the entire game.

The closest the Dons got to paydirt was in the second period when they advanced the ball to the Serra 22-yard line, but Pad defense back Chuck Stancil intercepted a Dave Ankele pass on a second down play to thwart their chances.

With the score 41-0 at the end of the third frame, Freitas cleared his bench.

And — as young Jesse Jr. ambled to the sidelines to the nelows of his classmated — the Agagon fans breathed a gasping sigh of relief.

POLITICAL PARADE

Draper Opens S.S.F. Office

The Draper Congressional Campaign Committee opened its North County campaign office Thursday evening at 411 Grand Avenue, South San Francisco.

Some 100 citizens invited the colorful headquarters office to discuss the issues with William H. Draper, who explained his views on major issues confronting the American public.

"Vietnam is the foremost problem in the minds of all Americans," he said. "This conflict has lasted longer and cost us more than any war in which we have ever been engaged. The strategy, or lack of it, that has committed us to a policy of gradual escalation has also created in us the uneasy sensation that there may be no end to it all."

"The Administration's policy of gradual escalation is the most dangerous policy we could follow. Johnson's failure to take positive steps that would shorten the war, and his lack of concern with the risk of letting the war drag on have resulted in astounding losses of American boys killed in action."

Draper further declared that the "military should be permitted to carry out their mission, unhindered by the State Department, to win this war in Vietnam as soon as possible and bring our boys back home."

The North County Headquarters opening was hosted by Mrs. James Sargen South San Francisco women's chairman, Mrs. Peter Weinberger, San Bruno women's chairman, and Mrs. Leslie McGregor, North Area women's chairman.

About 20 members of Teenage Republicans of San Mateo County arrived at the headquarters in a decorated truck. Chairman of the teen-agers in Kathy Wentworth of Burlingame.

A colorful highlight in the festivities was the "picketing" of Miss Tina Balbi, made up as a clown, and Mrs. Lois Ridgway, dressed as Uncle Sam. They carried signs reading "I'm for Draper because he's for me."

Also on hand to help open the new headquarters were Mrs. Mark Senaldi, North County Women's Chairman, and John Pema, co-chairman of North County men for Draper.

Mrs. James Sargen was chairman of the decorating and refreshments.

Paul N. 'Pete' McCloskey, Jr., Republican candidate for Congress from the 11th (San Mateo County) District, today asked the State Division of Beaches and Parks to reconsider its planned condemnation of 23 acres at San Gregorio Beach for use as asphalt parking lots.

In a letter to William Penn Mott, Jr., Director of Parks and Recreation, McCloskey said the State plans to condemn Class I and II prime agricultural land instead of Class IV (unproductive) land which is immediately adjacent.

The ideal political picnic — no speeches — will be given by Paul N. 'Pete' McCloskey, Republican Candidate for Congress from the 11th (San Mateo County) District at Searsville Lake Park, Sunday, Oct. 1.

McCloskey will appear at the picnic, but has made a solemn vow that "there will be no speeches."

The picnic will begin at 10 a.m. and run through 5 p.m.

Besides swimming, fishing (with a special prize to the child under 10 who catches the biggest fish), pony rides, cotton candy, popcorn and beer, McCloskey has arranged for entertainment during the day.

Entertainment includes two dance bands, a Barbershop quartet (with a special arrangement of the campaign song, "Throw Him Down, McCloskey") mariachis and Irish Step Dancers.

More than 50,000 invitations will be distributed throughout San Mateo County for the picnic, which promises to be the biggest event in the county's recent political history.

San Mateo County congressional candidate Bob Barry, a three-term veteran of Congress (1959-65) pledged today to "continue to support small business when returned to Congress."

In Congress, Barry won the coveted "Watchdog of the Treasury" award for economy in voting from the National Associated Businessmen, as well as numerous other commendations from business association.

Now president of Calicopia Corporation, a California timber and mining firm with interests in the Sierras, Barry also is engaged in land development on the Salton Sea.

Testimonial Dinner Slated for Sheriff on Saturday

A testimonial dinner honoring Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore will be given Thursday, September 28, at the Mounted Patrol Grounds in Woodside by friends and fellow members of the Patrol and supporters of his Congressional campaign.

The dinner committee is headed by William E. Hansen of Portola Valley. The event is planned as an informal barbecue with a steak menu prepared by Ivan Sawyer of Belmont and Anthony Sorich of Woodside.

Charles S. Blair of Redwood

City is in charge of reservations. The public is invited.

A reception in Whitmore's honor is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. preceding the 8 o'clock dinner. The testimonial barbecue is one of a series of events planned by Whitmore supporters in all parts of the county.

"We who have known Earl both as a loyal friend over the years and as a dedicated public official are backing him to the hilt in his bid for election as San Mateo County's representative in Congress," Hansen said.

A crowd that overflowed the building and cheered in the street welcomed Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore and his Congressional campaign headquarters to Daly City last week.

The North County Whitmore for Congress campaign office at 6719 Mission Street was the setting for an opening reception that brought out hundreds of Whitmore backers, including some leading civic figures of North County communities.

In addressing the well-wishers, Whitmore reaffirmed his pledge to help north county communities solve their problems of flood control, noise abatement and harbor development.

Joining the Republican candidate for Congress from the Eleventh (San Mateo County) Congressional District in greeting Win-with-Whitmore team members were Guido J. Rozzi of South San Francisco, north county campaign chairman, and Michael DeBernardi and Peter J. Markovich, co-chairmen of the Daly City Whitmore committee.

The entire South San Francisco City Council, including Mayor Patrick E. Ahern, Andrew

Rocca, Frank Bertucelli, Emilio Cortesi and Rozzi, headed the Whitmore delegation from that city. Daly City Mayor Bernard Lyett was on hand with a large group of his official family.

In the contingent from Pacifica were Vice-Mayor Harlan Minshew and Councilman Nick Gust. Among law enforcement officers saluting Sheriff Whitmore's candidacy were Police Chiefs Roland Petrocci of Daly City and Ray Savage of Broadmoor.

Colma, San Bruno and Millbrae also sent delegations of both Democrats and Republicans who are supporting the Whitmore campaign. Labor, business, industry and the professions were represented.

The Daly City Whitmore office is open daily as a center for north county area volunteer activities leading up to the November 14 primary election.

The two men who campaigned vigorously against Whitmore last year in his fifth successful race for the county sheriff's office today joined forces as solid backers of his candidacy for Congress.

Nick Gust Sparks Bay Meadows Pacifica Day

CIVIC MINDED NICK GUST, owner of Nick's "restaurant acres" in Pacifica, and a ranking political figure, is sparking a November 13 Pacifica Day at Bay Meadows. Plans are to have Greyhound buses transport those not wishing to drive, right to the track from Nicks. If interested in making the fun trek, suggest you contact Nick about the middle of next week, when the final arrangements are made. In the meantime, stop by the Rockaway Beach restaurant for breakfast, lunch, or dinner and enjoy the fun and entertainment. Never a dull moment at Nick's! ... One reason Ansara's restaurant, in Redwood City, is fast coming to the dining front, is the unequalled Candlelight Dinner served in the Candlelight Room. Broiled to exact order, you have a choice of sirloin or New York steak, complete with all the trimmings. Champagne is also included. And, if you wish, a glass of Danish Fruit Liqueur at the bar.

A VISIT TO THE IRIFUNE Japanese restaurant is equal to entering the exotic world of the Far East. From the award-designed interior decor, to the authentic Japanese dishes served, Owner Toshio Kiyohara has created a delightful dining atmosphere. For patrons' listening pleasure, soft Oriental music is played continuously. ... The Ely Walker Company, one of the country's foremost clothiers, is meeting for four days at the International Inn, South San Francisco. Chiefly a business gathering, the company's executives have been taking most of their meals in one of Manager Doug Young's spacious banquet rooms. Banquets here are booked three months in advance. ... Hillsdale shoppers have been missing their daily snacks at The Happening since its "closed for remodeling" period. With its reopening only a matter of a few days away, the new owner expects The Happening to again be one of the busiest restaurant fountains around.

BRIGHT LIGHTS LOVES EVERYBODY: Have always been a firm believer in giving credit where credit is due. And now is the time to extend personal thanks to Clare and Ray Stern for inviting me to join the San Mateo branch of their Health Club — not as a "free loader," my membership was bought and paid. Eight months ago, I waddled in at a fat 200 pounds, complete with a 40-inch waistline — and as much pep as a long-gone Essex going up a mountain road. Today, thanks to diet suggestions of Clare and Ray, and a workout three times a week, I now weigh in at 175 — with a 35-inch waistline. Losing weight not only helps the one doing so, but it's good for business. My Roos-Atkins bills were doubled, as Budd Reininghaus, the smiling local store manager, can testify.

CHEF WILFRIED BLARER, a gentleman restaurant owner with remarkable culinary abilities, and his wife, Marion, who acts as hostess, have quickly developed their Matterhorn into being one of the most sought out dining houses on the Peninsula. Specializing in Swiss-German cuisine, Chef Wilfried offers gourmet dinners starting from $2.50, which is steadily building a particular patronage to be envied by any restaurant. ... The sensational Bola Sete Trio, with guitar virtuoso Bola Sete, will present his final three days of concerts tonight, Saturday and Sunday at the Los Gatos Stage at Los Gatos Fine Arts, 50 University Avenue. ... Not until the other p.m. during a conversation with dapper Vittorio Cantalupo, owner of the Villa Italia, did I know that in his hometown of Venice, restaurateurs of prominence change suits sometimes two times a day. Tis no wonder Vittorio who has brought this tradition to his San Carlos restaurant, is rated as one of the Bay Area's best dressed men.

BESIDES THE EXCITING entertainment currently headlined on weekends at Augie's on Third Avenue, the "All you can eat" sessions on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights are big attractions. From 10 p.m. on, Augie and Phyllis provide all the tacsos you can handle on these three evenings — and the tab for each person comes to the grand sum of a quarter. ... Part of the fun of visiting Alex's Zorba, Burlingame's new Greek supper club, is watching the spontaneous action on the dance floor. When the internationally famed John Sporos Stamatis begins to play the Bouzouki, one glance will show you why Greek people seem to have a way of creating more lively "doings" than most. Alex, the dance star of the film "Zorba The Greek," fascinates the dining crowds with his artistry.

EMERSON MURFEE
Sportsman-Restaurateur
Villa Chartier

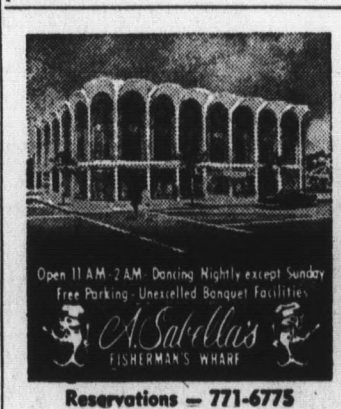

Hard Work Is The Hobby Of Emerson Murfee

When it comes to hunting, fishing, or how to operate a ranch or restaurant, Emerson Murfee's name goes to the top of the "know-how" list. In between business appointments, the successful Villa Chartier, Lanai, and Lanai Liquor Store owner is "foreman" of his many acres ranch, and pilots his own plane to Lake Tahoe to relax in his recently purchased North Shore home. Hard work and plenty of it is Emerson Murfee's hobby, but he still finds time for fun.

In keeping to form, Art Petri is sparing no cost in the sumptuous redecorating of his completely remodeled banquet room, which is located on the lower level of his L'Entrecote restaurant. Look for it to become the social center of Hillsdale when it's opened for gatherings.

Don't overlook the hors d'oeuvres served in the air-conditioned lounge of Vince La-cata's Italian and Seafood restaurant between 5:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. nightly. Mighty tasty with cocktails for a chaser.

For authentic Mexican food fare, chef Robert Artiz "South of the border" tempters at the El Patio in Menlo Park will please the most particular palates. The charming interior of Jim and Shelly Llewellyn's restaurant is similar to a garden patio.

Mr. Clean and His Group Held Over Once Again

AT THIS TIME of the year, some niteries might be in "second gear," entertainment-wise. But you can be sure The Fireside Lounge, in San Mateo, has been in "high" ever since Mr. Clean and His Uncalled Four made the musical scene here. Although held over again by popular demand, this aggregation of wild sounds will soon be heading for Las Vegas, report club owners Jack McRae and Phil Maita. Adding Curveousness, an All-Girl Topless Revue is an extra attraction. When it comes to seven nights a week of fun-packed action, the Fireside offers a continuous amount — from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Diets "Go Out The Window" At Fasolo's Black Angus Chuck Wagon

One recent warm evening, while his family of five munched contentedly on Black Angus Chuck Wagon chicken, steak and roast beef, the dieting "head-of-the-house" took advantage of the "All you can eat" policy and made four trips to the salad section. Suddenly, he could no longer stand the tantalizing aroma of well-seasoned hot dishes — waistline or no. After doing away with a plate of chicken and two steaks, which had obviously broken the spell, he indulged in cheese cake as a dessert finish. Moral: dieters, be wary whenever being in range of "Wagon master" Carlo Fasolo's Black Angus Chuck Wagon.

"Cookery" Now Open 24 Hours

That slim, trim, handsome gent you'll see almost any hour of the day darting from The Cookery's plush booth and counter areas to the stainless steel kitchen is Jesse Robertson, who manages this busy, new restaurant for owner John Fitzpatrick. Conveniently located in the new Mills Square Building, The Cookery is now open 24 hours a day offering complete restaurant service.

Besides owning one of the most distinguished restaurants in the state, vivacious sisters, Mary Lou and Theresa, have literally decorated their Scotty Campbell's, in Redwood City, with a fortune of almost priceless antiques, among which is a rare figure of Bacchus, "God of Wine," which stands majestically by the reservation desk and overseeing the bar.

Mr. and Mrs. Galli celebrated their 50th anniversary in the recently remodeled "Southern" room of the New Southern restaurant, last Sunday eve. A retired baker, the Galli's were presented with a magnificent cake by their family and friends.

Joe Finocchio's Success Operation

Finocchio's has long been one of the most night-in and night-out successes in San Francisco and credit goes to Joe Finocchio, who has been in the same Broadway location for as far back as I can remember. The "boys will be girls" show is unparalleled in the Bay Area. Although often copied, the "upstarts" are soon subdued. There is only one club to visit when seeking this type of entertainment, and Finocchio's is just that.

Finally caught up with my good friend Lucien Sabella, the Capri Room "skipper," who is now "ship shape" and back to shooting his game of golf in the 70's, after a recent siege in the hospital. Located on San Francisco's fabulous Fisherman's Wharf, A. Sabella's is not only a luncheon and dinner attraction, but features dancing from 9 p.m. nightly, except Sunday, to Joe Marcellino's orchestra, which has been a bandstand favorite here for many years.

Right now is not too early to make plans for the holidays in one of the many banquet rooms, which are available for private parties of any size.

Two Circles Plan to Meet Wednesday

Wednesday is the meeting day for two of the Circles of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at St. Paul's Methodist Church, 500 Miller Avenue, South San Francisco.

Ruth Circle, which is a group of mothers with young children will meet at the church in the Blanche Sheldon Room at 9:30 a.m. There will be a babysitter provided.

The Esther Circle will meet at 11:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Hale Porter, 814 Miller Avenue.

In the evening, at 8 p.m. the Education Commission meets at the church, Ed Kremers, chairman.

The sermon topic chosen by the Rev. Oscar E. Link, minister at St. Paul's Methodist Church for Sunday at the 10:30 a.m. worship service is "Things that Endure."

Immediately following the worship service the Esther Circle will provide a coffee hour. At noon the WSCS is preparing a Teacher Recognition Luncheon for the faculty of the church school, in appreciation for those who give so unselfishly of their time to the religious education of the youth of the church.

The Christian Adventurers, Junior Hi Youth, meet at the church at 6:30 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Paron, counselors.

Four Injured In Collisions In County

Four north county residents were injured in traffic accidents Sunday on San Mateo County highways.

Roger J. Ryan, 21, of 670 Hanover Street, Daly City, suffered serious head injuries at 12:10 a.m. when his sedan crashed into a utility pole on El Camino Real in Colma at the entrance to Eternal Home Cemetery.

Highway patrolmen said Ryan, a sandblaster employed at Hunter's Point Naval Shipyard, may have fallen asleep at the wheel. Ryan and his passenger, Dolores Marie Welker, 21, of 589 Bellevue Drive, Daly City, were taken to Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Harbakash Dosanjh, 23, of 65 Aviator Avenue, Apt. 48, Millbrae, was treated at Mills Memorial Hospital for head injuries sustained at 3:45 p.m. in a crash on Bayshore Freeway in Burlingame.

Officers said a car driven by her husband, Trilochan S. Dosanjh, 29-year-old United Air Lines technician, was struck by an auto driven by Patricia Ann Coladietro, 21-year-old legal secretary of 107 Manor Drive, South San Francisco.

Miss Coladietro said her car seemed to encounter some sort of mechanical failure and go out of control.

Mervin M. W. Baker, 54-year-old salesman of 87 Morning Avenue, Daly City, was injured at 11:50 p.m. when his car hurtled off a ramp at the Skyline Boulevard - Cabrillo Highway interchange.

Hot Lunches 'Eventually' For Students

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees have authorized purchase of additional cafeteria equipment that will enable Woo'ow Wilson pupils in Daly City to receive hot lunches.

But, when the youngsters will be able to take advantage of this program remains uncertain, explains District Supt. Frank Greenwood, because the Vietnam conflict has caused a shortage in equipment.

A delay of perhaps a year could result, Greenwood pointed out. He urged trustees to allow the equipment to be ordered as soon as possible.

The outlay would be between $7,000 and $8,000 he declared. Wilson's basic kitchen - and the most expensive pieces of equipment - are already provided, the superintendent said.

A P-TA representative, Dorothy Adams, noted that "parents in the area had hoped the cafeteria would be open as soon as possible."

Comment On 'Owl' Shirley

Two candidates today commented on Shirley Temple Black's comment that she was more of an owl than a dove or a hawk.

Democrat Dan Monaco, said the no "wise owl would rely solely on joint chiefs of staff. Such a stand makes for a hawk, albeit a pretty one."

Monaco called for an end to bombing and placing the Viet crisis before the United Nations Security Council.

He pointed out that there is machinery set up in the UN for this.

"If it is 'kosher' in this campaign to comment on the comment that Mrs. Black made in reference to her being a Republican-Independent voting 'nothing to anyone,'" Slocum would like to say, "I am an Independent-Democrat and I owe a lot to a lot of people - mainly the finance people, the bank people, the collector people, the doctor people, - but mostly of all to the 'little people!'"

And, if I do go to Congress to help set things straight for the 'little people' I imagine that my creditors might finally smile on me again too!

CSM Enrollment

College of San Mateo, Northern California's largest junior college in terms of enrollment, continues to exceed even its most optimistic growth forecasts. The board of trustees has learned that registrations for the fall semester are pushing the potential enrollment figure to about 9,000, an 11 per cent jump over last year.

A CSM Conference On Youth and Drugs

The modern young person doesn't want any fancy talk where drugs are concerned.

He wants the facts and the answers to his questions. What does "pot" do to his nervous system? How can "acid" change his personality? What's to be gained; what's to be lost?

How the young person's approach differs from . . . or agrees with . . . that of counselors, teachers, psychiatrists, doctors, will be discussed in the College of San Mateo counseling institute, Saturday, September 30, when authorities discuss "The World of Youthful Drug Use."

Registration for the institute is open to the public and begins at 9:30 a.m. in the foyer of the little theater.

During the morning session the discussions will center on "Causation and Control" with Dr. Edward Stainbrook, professor and chairman of the department of psychiatry, University of Southern California, and Dr. Joseph D. Lohman, dean of the school of criminology and professor of criminology of the University of California, Berkeley, as discussion leaders.

The afternoon discussion will consider "Public Myths and Dilemmas," and will feature Dr. Herbert Blumer, professor of sociology, University of California, Berkeley, as discussion leader. A panel of counselors, teachers, and drug users will debate the final questions of the day.

Registration is $3, with a box lunch available at $1.25. Advance registration may be completed through the college box office.

Crestmoor High School Slates a Parents' Night

Crestmoor High School will observe Freshman Parent Night on the first P-TA program of the fall schedule.

The event will take place September 27, 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

A panel of key persons will be introduced by principal George Kristovich. These are people who are working in different areas with the students.

Each Panelist will talk a few minutes about their particular line of service.

Any questions presented by the parents will be considered by the panel. These will pertain to the school program, sports, education or other activities.

Those on the panel besides Mr. Kristovich are: Dean of Guidance, David Kennedy; vice principal of Education Service, Stewart Diamond; vice principal of Student Service, Mrs. Florence Hoeck.

Reformation Observances By Lutherans

Four coastside Lutheran Churches will join together in an observance of the 450th anniversary of the Reformation.

Pastors Tom Unaacht, Douglas Swendsen, Rod Jensen, and David Enline, clergymen respectively of Westlake Lutheran Church, Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, and Holy Cross Lutheran Church, all in Pacifica made the announcement.

The clergymen and several committees of the four churches are planning several joint events in October.

On October 1, the award winning motion picture, "Martin Luther," will be shown in the sanctuary of Our Saviour's Lutheran Church. Rock away Beach in Pacifica to all interested persons in the community.

On October 22, Youth of the community are invited to a "Youth Happening" at Westlake Lutheran Church on Avalon Drive in Daly City. This will feature a folk tune liturgical service and the Protestant motion picture shown at the New York World's Fair, "The Parable."

On October 6-7, families of all four congregations will join in a retreat at Mt. Cross Camp near Felton to consider, "The Nature and Mission of the Lutheran Church Today."

The following counselors will also be present, George Robinson, George Denney, Thomas Gallagher and Miss Rose Boche. Refreshments will be available as the parents arrive, and the meeting will start promptly at 8 p.m.

Other P-TA events scheduled are: Junior - Senior Parents' Night, Wednesday, October 4; Back to School Night, October 18 and Sophomore Parent night, November 1.

Holy Days Services At Temple

Birthday Sabbath will be observed at Congregation B'nai Israel Friday.

Those to be honored are Beverly Anspach, Sandra Frucht, Cynthia Kaplan, Ronald LaPelle, Russell Lemesh, Allan Levine, Mark Schlesinger and Myrette Weiritt.

Martin Podolsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Podolsky, will celebrate his Bar Mitzvah when he is called to the Torah on Saturday, Sept. 30, at 10 a.m. Honored guests will be his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Podolsky of Washington, D.C.

Selihot Services on Saturday, Sept. 30 will usher in the High Holy Days season for Jews throughout the world. Services at Congregation B'nai Israel will be preceded by a social hour and a showing of a new film about Israel, "The Sand Curtain." The social hour will include refreshments and will begin at 10 p.m. followed by the Service at Midnight.

The schedule of High Holy Days services are as follows: Rosh Hashanah Eve, Wednesday, Oct. 4, 8 p.m.; Rosh Hashanah Days, Oct. 5 and 6, 9 p.m.; Kol Nidrei Service, Oct. 13, 7:30 p.m.; Yom Kippur Day, Oct. 14, 9 a.m.

A memorial service will be held at Eternal Home Cemetery on Oct. 8 at 10 a.m.

Cap Band Needs Financial Support

Brand new uniforms for Capuchino's championship band is the prime goal of the newly incorporated Band Boosters Club of Capuchino High School.

Outfitting the 100-piece band will take $10,000, so the wheels were set in motion at last Tuesday's meeting of the Club, band director, students and interested persons. More than 180 were in attendance.

Daly Sly, new president, chaired the meeting and gave a resume of summer activities which included the work of incorporation and attainment of a tax exempt status.

Ways and Means chairman, Mrs. Don Rogers, suggested several fund raising plans scheduled for this Fall and won approval from the membership to pursue each project.

The first event will be a rummage sale Thursday and Friday, October 26-27 at St. Dunstan's Hall in Millbrae. Anyone wishing to contribute goods for the sale is asked to contact Mrs. Don Rogers or Mrs. Robert Lasher.

Other projects continuing this year are a Purity-label saving contest resulting from a demonstration luncheon, and the sale of Cap green and gold badges made by Mrs. Tadano Hirozawa.
